NORMAL LIFE OF CUBA IS PARALYZED

Strike Becoming General as Workers in Many Lines Walkout in Big Protest
STREET CARS HALTED

Citizens Over Entire Island Protesting Against Political Repression

HAVANA, Aug. 5.—(UP)—Troop movements, government threats and growing paralysis of commercial life today marked the disastrous strike that was becoming general throughout the island.

Three hundred rural guards arrived to reinforce police and soldiers. Bus and street car drivers, taxicabmen, cafe and restaurant workers, all dock workers and newspaper employees were out. Railwaymen and the medical federation threatened to join.

Cavalry was sent to Cienfuegos to aid in suppressing riots.

Government officials expressed hope they might halt the strike today by peaceful means and induce the workers to return to their jobs. But all indications were that the strike, a gesture of protest against political repression, was spreading fast.

Milkmen, ice men and bakers planned to strike over the week end.

Soldiers guarded oil trucks conveying gasoline for private cars, but many citizens left their automobiles at home for fear they would incur displeasure of strikers.

The government was expected to attempt to operate omnibuses with soldiers guarding the strikebreakers.

In some smaller towns the strike was general.

There were minor riots at Regla, across the harbor from Havana, and at Cienfuegos.

The presidential secretariat denied reports that constitutional guarantees were to be suspended. President Gerardo Machado had threatened earlier to declare a state of war if workers persisted in paralyzing normal life.

American Ambassador Sumner Welles, has refrained from interfering in the strike situation.

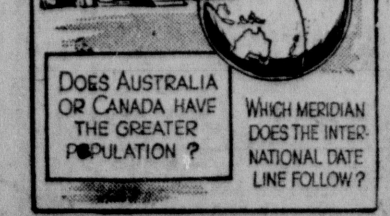

STATE MERCHANTS WORK OUT PROBLEM

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 5.—(UP)—California merchants gradually are working out their own problems in connection with the collection of the 2 1/2 per cent sales tax, members of the state board of equalization said today.

The most difficult problem, that of collecting the tax on purchases between one and 15 cents by stores whose sales are mostly in this bracket, apparently has been solved most successfully by the use of coupons, it was claimed.

Under terms of a plan called to the attention of the board, a tax of one cent is charged on any small purchase. Inasmuch as this obviously is more than the 2 1/2 per cent rate many stores have adopted the use of a credit coupon to be applied to future small purchases until the legal rate is collected.

PROTEST MADE TO GERMANY BY THREE POWERS
Object Individually to Alleged Threats to Austrian Independence

PARIS, Aug. 5.—(UP)—France, Great Britain and Italy, through their ambassadors at Berlin, protested individually to Germany today against alleged threats to Austrian independence.

The protests were based on the recent Mussolini 10 year peace pact, signed by Germany and the three protesting nations, and on the Versailles treaty.

It was the first use of the Mussolini treaty, under which the four signatories bound themselves to keep European peace for a decade.

Diplomatic conversations over a period of several days preceded the protest. France was understood to have been made particularly anxious by the German-Austrian situation, and reports said a joint protest would be made.

However, it was decided to make separate protests.

Italy notified the French foreign office her ambassador at Berlin had protested in Italy's name.

Simultaneously the foreign office announced that France and Great Britain, after long discussion, had reached agreement to protest to Berlin.

Instructions to the ambassadors were understood to be identical in text and the protests were understood to have been made in verbal form by means of memoranda read to the great foreign office, instead of by the more formal diplomatic note.

The ambassadors were said to have declared merely that their governments felt German threats against Austria's political freedom were in conflict with Germany's engagement to keep the peace.

One form of "threat" to Austria has been by means of airplanes, which have flown over Austrian territory dropping Nazi propaganda, particularly aimed at Austrian Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss.

ROLPH FAVORS BIG STATE WATER PLAN

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 5.—(UP)—Ready to sign the bill authorizing the $170,000,000 great central valley water project, Governor Rolph today indicated threats of a referendum against the measure might be met with a special election.

Without a special election it would be necessary to wait until late next year to have the question settled, should the threatened referendum be successful.

"California can't afford to wait a year and a half on this plan. We couldn't get federal financing as a re-employment project then," the governor explained.

The governor planned to sign the bill later today.

YOUNG ROOSEVELT AND WIFE IN L. A.

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 5.—(UP)—Expecting to make their home in Southern California, Elliott Roosevelt, second son of President Roosevelt, and his bride, the former Ruth Goggins of Fort Worth, Texas, were here today on their honeymoon.

The Roosevelts were married July 23 in Burlington, Ia., following Roosevelt's divorce from Elizabeth Donner Roosevelt in Minden, Nev. They motored to the home of the former Miss Goggins' parents for a brief visit and then to the Pacific coast.

Here's How To Get Extra Blue Emblems

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—(UP)—Employers who want extra blue eagle insignia may purchase it if:

1. They buy it from printers who themselves are members of NRA and are authorized to manufacture NRA printed matter.
2. They present to the printers written statements that they have signed the president's agreement.

If an employer obtains his insignia by fraud, it will be taken from him, but there is no further penalty other than the effect of public opinion.

ATTORNEY HELD FOR TEAR GAS BOMB EPISODE

Harvard Graduate Accused of Placing Bomb in Stock Market

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—(UP)—Eugene Daniels, Jr., 32, prosperous appearing Harvard graduate and lawyer, was formally arrested today on a charge of placing two tear gas bombs in the ventilation system of the New York stock exchange yesterday, causing suspension of trading for the day.

He was taken into custody at the St. Paul hotel and after questioning by police his arrest was ordered by Inspector John Lyons. He was arraigned in Tombs court on a short affidavit signed by Detective Edwin Farrell, who charged him with the tear-gas bomb incident.

Daniels discussed pleasantly and intelligently "most every subject," police said, but when they sought to interrogate him on the tear-gas incident, he replied:

"I am a lawyer myself, you know. I will not answer any of these questions until I see my counsel."

His apprehension, police said, followed the tracing of a telephone call to Boston from the hotel where he had been a guest since Tuesday.

According to Inspector Lyons, Daniels admitted placing a dummy bomb at the home of Mayor James M. Curley of Boston. It purportedly was intended to get publicity for the Commoners party, a political organization of which he is a member.

The commoners' party, Daniels said, maintained this country has no democracy and blames all America's ills on capitalism.

Police said that when Daniels was arrested, commoner party literature was found in his pocket. He is a member of Battery A, 101st Regiment, Field Artillery, Boston.

Asked if he was familiar with chemistry and the making of bombs, he snapped:

"No statement to make on that."

RECOVERY MEASURES SIGNED BY GOVERNOR

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 5.—(UP)—California's state government was in step with the NRA program today after Governor Rolph had signed four recovery bills and issued orders to maintain present salaries for those state workers placed on a five-day-week.

Rolph's assurance that the shorter week will not mean less wages will affect the per diem workers especially. Under terms of the bill passed by the legislature, the five-day week was authorized for state workers "wherever practicable."

The bills representing companion measures to the National Recovery act, as approved by the governor, provide for codes of fair competition for intra-state business, and extends authority of national codes to California through the elimination of conflicts with state anti-trust laws.

HULL RETURNS AND DENIES HE WILL QUIT JOB

Mildly Optimistic Over Results of World Economic Conference

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—(UP)—Secretary of State Cordell Hull, mildly optimistic over the results of the world economic conference, returned from London today and promptly departed by motor for Hyde Park to report to President Roosevelt.

Appearing somewhat worn, the secretary met newspaper reporters in the writing room of the liner President Harding as it came up the bay and denied reports he contemplated resigning because of asserted differences with the administration.

"I have no intention of resigning now or hereafter nor am I in a speculative state of mind," he declared.

Speaking of the London conference, the secretary said:

"Despite any confused reports about its status, the conference is alive and has a thoroughly virile and comprehensive organization to direct its affairs during the recess period. The conference can be depended on to go forward in the future with such progress as the nature and extent of difficulties would permit. These difficulties have been piling up in every part of the world for 12 years with the natural result that corresponding more time is necessary to consider and solve them."

"Would you say then," he was asked, "that the conference was successful?"

"The conference," Hull replied, "is just getting well commenced. Your question is just like asking a man if he has quit beating his wife yet."

He was asked whether he shared with Henry Morgenthau, who returned yesterday from the wheat negotiations in Paris, the opinion that the fear of war overhung the London conference.

"I'm not quite so pessimistic," the secretary replied. "But the purpose of the conference is to deal constructively and resolutely with both economic and military problems. I believe a somewhat more optimistic view could be taken—though I say that with a great deal of respect for Mr. Morgenthau who is a more capable judge than I."

MOTHER CONFESSES KILLING CHILDREN

JEFFERSON, O., Aug. 5.—(UP)—A youthful mother confessed here today, police said, that she killed her two sons "because my husband didn't like my babies."

The wife, Mrs. Alecia Fleming, 28, whose husband is a 55-year old tenant farmer at Simonds, near here, was charged with first degree murder.

The husband, Mertis Fleming, was lodged in jail. It was understood charges would be preferred against him later.

"My husband never paid any attention to the boy babies; that's why I killed them," Mrs. Fleming sobbed.

SALE OF EMBLEMS CAUSE OF ARREST

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 5.—(UP)—Harlan French, 29, was held in jail here today after being named in a federal warrant charging him with selling NRA blue eagle emblems to persons unauthorized to use them. It was believed to be the first prosecution under the NRA.

French, who said he was formerly of Springfield, O., and once reported on the Indianapolis Times, admitted selling the emblems for $1 each, but denied he intentionally sold them to firms not entitled to their use. It was believed French was employed by a company authorized to sell the insignia.

Huge Plane Carries 1770 Gallons of Fuel When Flight Started

BULLETIN

ST. JOHN, N. B., Aug. 5.—(UP)—The Codos-Rossi plane passed near Sable Island, on the northern tip of Nova Scotia, at 12:25 p. m. EDT today.

The fliers were in radio communication with the Canoe, N. S., radio station. They reported all well and the weather fine.

FLOYD BENNETT Airport, N. Y., Aug. 5.—(UP)—Two French pilots began one of the most ambitious flights in aviation history at 5:41 a. m. (e.d.t.) today when they took off for Baghdad, Iraq, in an attempt to set a new non-stop distance record.

Paul Codos, world war flier, was at the controls. Maurice Rossi, was navigator and radio operator. Their Heriot monoplane, carrying 1,770 gallons of gasoline, was the heaviest laden ship ever to leave this airport. The weight was more than nine tons.

They planned to head up the Atlantic coast as far as Newfoundland, then steer a course across the Atlantic that would take them over the southern tip of Ireland. They hoped to fly over Paris, but said they would not pause for any welcoming ceremony in the air. Continuing eastward, they hoped to follow the route down the Balkan peninsula, thence into Asia Minor as far as their fuel carries them.

Arrive At Field

The Frenchmen arrived at the field shortly after midnight. Rossi immediately began a minute inspection of the plane and the 500 horsepower Hispano-Suiza motor. Codos conferred with field officials and advisers on routes and weather conditions.

Due to the unusual load the plane carried, extra precautions were taken by field officials. The fire department had two full crews on hand with emergency equipment, and an ambulance from King's County hospital drew up to the long runway shortly before the take-off.

POLITICAL GROUPS FIGHT IN KENTUCKY

HARLAN, Ky., Aug. 5.—(UP)—Rival political factions today engaged in a pitched battle on a street here shortly before polls were opened for the county republican primary election.

At least two men were wounded before national guardsmen halted hostilities.

One faction fortified itself in a commissary prepared for housing guardsmen, which the Harlan mayor had called out earlier in the week to quell a pro-election disturbance, and the other took up positions behind concrete abutments across the street.

Witnesses estimated 500 or more shots were fired. Dynamite bombs and stones were hurled. One man was wounded in the face when a stick of dynamite exploded. Another's finger was shot off.

SAN DIEGO YOUTH STILL BEING HELD

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 5.—(UP)—Following repudiation of the "confession" of Philip Edwards, 19, who first claimed to have murdered and mutilated seven-year-old Dalbert Aposhian then denied it, Chief of Police Harry Raymond said today he was undetermined as to Edwards' guilt or innocence.

Edwards will not be released until his innocence is established definitely, Raymond said.

The youth claimed his confession was a hoax, perpetrated in hope of obtaining a motion picture contract.

STRATOSPHERE BALLOON FAILS ON FIRST TRY

Faulty Hydrogen Valve is Cause for Big Gas Bag to Be Forced Down

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—(UP)—The biggest balloon man ever built made a spectacular takeoff from Soldier Field for a flight into the stratosphere today but the daring enterprise ended before it was well begun when the big gas bag crashed in a welter of ropes and rubber fabric in the midst of a railroad yard.

A faulty hydrogen valve brought the project voyage into the blue void of the stratosphere to a sudden end and only the expert maneuvering of the scientist, Lieutenant T. W. G. Settle, saved the craft from destruction.

When he became certain that he must land, Settle peered beneath him and saw stretching away to the south the Chicago river. On one side were the dark outlines of buildings that offered every hazard but on the opposite bank was the comparatively open space of the network of tracks in the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad yards.

Safe Landing

Settle maneuvered his craft to a safe landing and managed to release the highly inflammable hydrogen in the envelope without injury to himself or excessive damage to the balloon.

Settle took off at 2 a. m. CST, and had planned to ascend to an altitude of a few thousand feet and wait until the sun's rays began expanding the hydrogen. After gliding over the rim of the stadium his craft climbed rapidly to 5,000 feet.

The pilot, a veteran navy balloonist and Gordon Bennett race winner, decided he was too high. He pulled the hydrogen release cord, planning to descend to about 2,000 feet.

The valve, which had caused some difficulty before the takeoff, stuck. Gas escaped rapidly from the bag and the craft sank. Settle quickly tossed ballast overboard but the bag deflated so rapidly he was unable to check the descent.

Losses Altitude

Spotlights from the stadium which followed the balloon upward played on it as it lost altitude. A stream of lead dust which Settle carried as ballast poured from the bottom of the gondola.

Settle guided the ship down through a maze of wires extending over the warehouse district. The gondola bumped on the rails.

SLASH IN FREIGHT RATES IS REFUSED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—(UP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission denied a petition today for a general reduction in freight rates.

The commission found that the existing general level of railroad freight rates was more than 20 per cent below that of 1920; that the freight level is not depressing the volume of traffic or business of the country as a whole; that rate reductions would not stimulate the aggregate volume of traffic by railroads; that after allowance for the recent upturn in commodity prices, the freight rate level is still relatively higher than the commodity price level and that the value of commodities transported is one factor in determining reasonable rates, but commodity prices are not controlling.

STOLEN BONDS ARE TAKEN FROM PLANE

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 5.—(UP)—A man who police said was E. S. Wagner, of 112 East 25th street, Oklahoma City, wanted for questioning in connection with disposition of stolen bonds and securities, was taken into custody as he stepped from an American Airways airplane here today.

Officers said they found approximately $150,000 worth of bonds in a suitcase belonging to the man.

The bonds, it was said, were stolen in a Kansas bank robbery last year.

Wagner was taken into custody by Lt. Frank James, who, with two other officers, had kept a three day vigil at the airport.

RIOTING MARKS MILK FARMERS STRIKE IN N. Y.

Seven State Troopers and 25 Farmers Are Injured in Clashes

UTICA, N. Y., Aug. 5.—(UP)—Serious rioting marked the New York milk strike today as farmers made a determined effort to shut off the state's milk supply.

Seven state troopers, including Capt. Stephen McGrath, hero of the 1929 Auburn prison riot, and approximately 25 farmers were injured in clashes in Oneida and Madison counties. Thousands of gallons of milk were dumped along highways and into brooks.

McGrath's injuries were not considered serious, but one farmer, Henry Nemyer of Oriskany, received a fractured skull and was not expected to recover.

Five other troopers besides McGrath and 22 farmers were injured at Oriskany when strikers stoned a milk truck of the dairymen's league.

At the dairymen's league plant while in Madison county, Niles camp, a special deputy was pulled from his milk truck and severely beaten.

Fear was expressed that the milk shortage in the central tier, now estimated at 75 per cent below normal, would become acute over the week-end unless deliveries were resumed.

Reports were heard that Governor Lehman was ready to call out the national guard as it was estimated that 20,000 farmers, most of them in central and western New York, had joined the strike, designed to bring to producers 45 per cent of the retail price of milk.

CREATES TRIBUNAL

National Board of Arbitration to Settle All Disputes; Strikes End

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 5.—(UP)—President Roosevelt today commended to the "public conscience" an appeal of industrial and labor leaders for an industrial peace during the recovery program.

Characterizing the document as comparable to Samuel Gompers' memorable wartime demand to preserve the status quo in labor disputes, Mr. Roosevelt explained that in addition to asking for cooperation in the interest of the nation, it proposed creation of a tribunal to pass promptly on all cases arising through interpretation of the re-employment agreement.

He said:

"Of importance to the recovery program is the appeal to management and labor for industrial peace, which has just been sent to me for approval. With compelling logic, it calls upon every individual in both groups to avoid strikes, lockouts or any aggressive action during the recovery program.

"It is a document on a par with Samuel Gompers' memorable war time demand to preserve status quo in labor disputes. In addition to the signature of the president of the American Federation of Labor it carries the signature of every great labor leader and every great industrial leader on the two advisory boards of the recovery administration. It is an act of economic statesmanship. I earnestly commend it to the public conscience.

Joint Appeal

"This joint appeal proposes the creation of a distinguished tribunal to pass promptly on any case of hardship or dispute that may arise from interpretation or application of the president's re-employment agreement. URGENT ROLPH SIGN INCOME TAX BILL

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 5.—(UP)—Governor Rolph today was urged to sign the $15,000,000 state income tax bill by farm and legislative leaders.

Ralph H. Taylor, secretary of the California agricultural legislature committee, told the governor that a veto of the bill would only "postpone the inevitable" inasmuch as new sources of revenue would be needed two years hence just as much as they are needed now.

Senator John McCall, Redding, also urged approval of the bill on the ground that "it is only fair that we adopt an income tax inasmuch as two-thirds of the sales tax revenue will come from men and women with incomes of less than $2000 a year."

FITTS ASKS ROLPH FOR KEYES PARDON

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 5.—(UP)—District Attorney Buren Fitts, who as chief deputy prosecuted Jsa Keyes, his former chief, on charges of taking a bribe, today expressed the opinion that Keyes had "made good." and said he had recommended to Governor James Rolph that Keyes, now on parole from San Quentin prison, be pardoned.

"The purpose of the criminal law is not to harass a man after he has paid his debt for a crime," Fitts said. "Keyes, in my opinion, has made good and paid the penalty."

Fitts said the letter to Governor Rolph had been written by him some time ago, but he denied reports that within the last few days he had visited Sacramento to confer with the governor on the pardon plea.

STATE MERCHANTS WORK OUT PROBLEM

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 5.—(UP)—California merchants gradually are working out their own problems in connection with the collection of the 2 1/2 per cent sales tax, members of the state board of equalization said today.

The most difficult problem, that of collecting the tax on purchases between one and 15 cents by stores whose sales are mostly in this bracket, apparently has been solved most successfully by the use of coupons, it was claimed.

Under terms of a plan called to the attention of the board, a tax of one cent is charged on any small purchase. Inasmuch as this obviously is more than the 2 1/2 per cent rate many stores have adopted the use of a credit coupon to be applied to future small purchases until the legal rate is collected.

ROLPH FAVORS BIG STATE WATER PLAN

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 5.—(UP)—Ready to sign the bill authorizing the $170,000,000 great central valley water project, Governor Rolph today indicated threats of a referendum against the measure might be met with a special election.

Without a special election it would be necessary to wait until late next year to have the question settled, should the threatened referendum be successful.

"California can't afford to wait a year and a half on this plan. We couldn't get federal financing as a re-employment project then," the governor explained.

The governor planned to sign the bill later today.

RECOVERY MEASURES SIGNED BY GOVERNOR

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 5.—(UP)—California's state government was in step with the NRA program today after Governor Rolph had signed four recovery bills and issued orders to maintain present salaries for those state workers placed on a five-day-week.

Rolph's assurance that the shorter week will not mean less wages will affect the per diem workers especially. Under terms of the bill passed by the legislature, the five-day week was authorized for state workers "wherever practicable."

The bills representing companion measures to the National Recovery act, as approved by the governor, provide for codes of fair competition for intra-state business, and extends authority of national codes to California through the elimination of conflicts with state anti-trust laws.

MOTHER CONFESSES KILLING CHILDREN

JEFFERSON, O., Aug. 5.—(UP)—A youthful mother confessed here today, police said, that she killed her two sons "because my husband didn't like boy babies."

The wife, Mrs. Alecia Fleming, 23, whose husband is a 55-year-old tenant farmer at Simonds, near here, was charged with first degree murder.

The husband, Mertis Fleming, was lodged in jail. It was understood charges would be preferred against him later.

"My husband never paid any attention to the boy babies; that's why I killed them," Mrs. Fleming sobbed.

POLITICAL GROUPS FIGHT IN KENTUCKY

HARLAN, Ky., Aug. 5.—(UP)—Rival political factions today engaged in a pitched battle on a street here shortly before polls were opened for the county republican primary election.

At least two men were wounded before national guardsmen halted hostilities.

One faction fortified itself in a commissary prepared for the fighting guardsmen, which the Harlan mayor had called out earlier in the week to quell a pre-election disturbance, and the other took up positions behind concrete abutments across the street.

Witnesses estimated 500 or more shots were fired. Dynamite bombs and stones were hurled. One man was wounded in the face when a stick of dynamite exploded. Another's finger was shot off.

SLASH IN FREIGHT RATES IS REFUSED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—(UP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission denied a petition today for a general reduction in freight rates.

The commission found that the existing general level of railroad freight rates was more than 20 per cent below that of 1929; that the freight level is not depressing the volume of traffic or business of the country as a whole; that rate reductions would not stimulate the aggregate volume of traffic by railroads; that after allowance for the recent upturn in commodity prices, the freight rate level is still relatively higher than the commodity price level and that the value of commodities transported is one factor in determining reasonable rates, but commodity prices are not controlling.

URGENT ROLPH SIGN INCOME TAX BILL

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 5.—(UP)—Governor Rolph today was urged to sign the $15,000,000 state income tax bill by farm and legislative leaders.

Ralph H. Taylor, secretary of the California agricultural legislative committee, told the governor that a veto of the bill would only "postpone the inevitable" inasmuch as new sources of revenue would be needed two years hence just as much as they are needed now.

Senator John McCall, Redding, also urged approval of the bill on the ground that "it is only fair that we adopt an income tax inasmuch as two-thirds of the sales tax revenue was from men and women with incomes of less than $2000 a year."

FITTS ASKS ROLPH FOR KEYES PARDON

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 5.—(UP)—District Attorney Byron Fitts, who as chief deputy prosecuted Asa Keyes, his former chief, on charges of taking a bribe, today expressed the opinion that Keyes had "made good," and said he had recommended to Governor James Rolph that Keyes, now on parole from San Quentin prison, be pardoned.

"The purpose of the criminal law is not to harass a man after he has paid his debt for a crime," Fitts said. "Keyes, in my opinion, has made good and paid the penalty."

Fitts said the letter to Governor Rolph had been written by him some time ago, but he denied reports that within the last few days he had visited Sacramento to confer with the governor on the pardon plea.

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 5.—(UP)—Expecting to make their home in Southern California, Elliott Roosevelt, second son of President Roosevelt, and his bride, the former Ruth Goggins of Fort Worth, Texas, were here today on their honeymoon.

The Roosevelts were married July 23 in Burlington, Ia., following Roosevelt's divorce from Elizabeth Donner Roosevelt in Minden, Nev. They motored to the home of the former Miss Goggins' parents for a brief visit and then to the Pacific coast.

Roosevelt said he had no business connections at present and that after a brief rest he would start looking for a position. He resigned his position as manager of the Gilpin Airlines when he left Los Angeles for Nevada.

COBBLERS HOLD MEETING: PLAN TO DRAFT CODE

Shoe repairmen from all parts of Orange county met in Anaheim last night at the Andrew Hoffman shoe shop and formed an association for the purpose of drafting a code of ethics conforming to President Roosevelt's new plan.

A code will be drafted by a special committee and submitted to the central council of shoe repairmen and then sent direct to Washington in the near future. The committee of governors, which will meet Monday night in Santa Ana, is composed of C. W. Nussbaumer, governor general, and Ross W. Stimpel of Santa Ana; Andrew Hoffman, Anaheim; Carl Eardman, Fullerton; William Schwab, Orange, and G. F. Chambers and Jack Meadows of Laguna Beach.

Arthur Johnson, speaker and organizer from Los Angeles, gave the address last night and presided over the meeting. Nearly every shoe repairman in the county attended and formed the Orange County chapter of the Southern California Shoe Repairmen association, which has branches from Santa Barbara to San Diego.

$19 TAKEN FROM SERVICE STATION

Entering the station while the operator was in the restroom, a daring burglar looted the cash register of the Jerry Hall Service station at Second and Main streets at 8:45 a. m. today and escaped with $19 in currency.

Charles C. Hinton, operator at the station, thought he heard the cash register ring but saw no one when he returned to the station. Checking up the money, however, he discovered the missing bills and notified police. Police Sergeant W. E. B. Sherwood investigated the burglary and questioned several persons near the station but no one remembered seeing the suspect.

After seeing his many curios from different parts of the world the boys were treated to the moving pictures Dr. Pullin took while on his South Seas and Orient cruise. One of the reels shows several miles of China's Great Wall.

In Dr. Pullin's collection is a series of pictures showing Pompeii destroyed by the volcanic eruption of 900 B. C. and being unearthed from the beginning of the 17th century.

Among those present were Frank and Raymond Oechel, San Fernando; Frederick Bloom, Kingsley Mathews, Howard McBride, Murray Tornberg, Buddy Herberman, Lathrop Flinton and Jack Smith, Los Angeles; Mickle Pen-ton and Allen Evans, Long Beach; Gilbert Clayton, Walter Plant, Kenneth Holland, and Charles Colby, Hollywood; Alfred Edwards, Santa Barbara; Billie Forrester, Eagle Rock; Buddie Hamilton, Alhambra; Lee Edgar and Kenneth Kenyon, El Centro; Hugh Brooks, Charles Hammond and Cecil Kinsey, Santa Ana; Horace Munger, Irvine; Louis Larson, Davenport, Iowa, who is in charge of the gardens, and two of the counselors, Don Keller and Mart Butler.

SEVEN HURT AS CAR OVERTURNS ON PARK ROAD

Harry Frasier, 10-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Frasier, R. D. 1, box 132, Yorba Linda, is unconscious from a possible skull fracture and six other passengers in the car in which he was riding were cut up and bruised in a peculiar accident yesterday afternoon at 5 p. m. on the old Orange county park road near Irvine park.

The Frasier boy and Harry Stewart, 11, Placentia, were rushed to St. Joseph's hospital by passing motorists while the others were taken to the Orange County hospital for first aid treatment. Mrs. Frasier was the most seriously hurt with cuts and lacerations, and she was able to go home after recovering from the shock at the hospital. Others hurt were George Solesbee, 11, Placentia, Mr. Frasier, 35, his small daughter and another boy whose name was not learned.

Frasier, who was driving the group home from a picnic in Irvine park, said that he was rounding a turn and could not control the car. The machine crossed the roadway and overturned in a ditch, with the top of the heavy sedan being completely torn off by some trees. California Highway Patrolman Floyd Yoder investigated the wreck.

SHOOTING VICTIM GIVEN RELEASE

Tentative plans to file felony charges against John Goforth, Buena park dairyman, following a family quarrel Wednesday in which his wife, Mrs. Lulu Goforth, shot him in the shoulder with a rifle at their home, were dropped yesterday by the district attorney's office and a release was given to permit Goforth to leave the Orange county hospital last night where he has been confined from the gunshot wound.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Goforth were held after the shooting on investigation of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder but plans to press charges were dropped. After Mrs. Goforth shot her husband, he is alleged to have chased her brandishing a large frying pan.

Autoist Admits Drunk Driving

Pleading guilty to a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, Andrew Obledo made oral application for probation when he appeared before Judge James L. Allen in superior court yesterday afternoon. Obledo's hearing on the probation plea will be held August 11 at 10 a. m. He was arrested on July 23 while driving drunk on West Chapman avenue.

TRIO GRANTED PROBATION BY JUDGE SCOVEL

Clara Miller, Pearl Miller and F. W. Underwood, three hitchhikers charged with intent to commit theft and grand theft involving the theft of an automobile, were granted probation for three years by Judge G. K. Scovel in superior court yesterday afternoon on condition that they do not leave the seven southern counties during the probation period.

The trio was charged with having burglariously entered a house in Balboa and with having stolen an automobile, 144 in cash and a gun belonging to Bob Allen, the complaining witness.

According to the testimony offered during the trial, Allen offered during the trial, Allen gave the trio a ride in his car while on his way to San Diego. Later, it was said, it was decided to spend the night in Balboa before going on to San Diego. While Allen slept, it was said, the defendants left with the car, money and gun.

They were captured in El Centro after having abandoned the car in San Diego the next day.

ROOSEVELT'S DIET SOUGHT BY NATION

WASHINGTON — (INS)—Mister Avoir du Pois, that congenial and self-satisfied American citizen whose wont is to permit little to interest him beyond his immediate sphere, has a new outlook on life. He has been inspired with new hopes and energy scans the Washington dispatches.

President Roosevelt is reducing. That's the biggest news for the fat that has emanated from the White House for all time.

And it is the most sincere. No trick motives prompted it. Advertising for any particular interest does not contaminate it nor does the president have anything to gain except to actually lose seven pounds of his own weight.

The White House secretaries are being besieged for "the president's diet" but Mr. Roosevelt is not following any set diet.

"He is just eating less of the same general food he has been eating," the mansion's cook explained.

Usually only a salad constitutes his lunch but this is one meal the chief executive has eaten hurriedly since he entered office. Frequently it is brought to him at his desk in the executive office and often he eats it while conferring with his aides.

Eighteen-day diets, various exercises and countless "sure reducing cures" have been followed by the overweight but without success, their letters stated. Since the President of the United States is trying to lose seven pounds and drop back to his normal weight of 174, all the huge-waisted men and women of the land are eager to follow him.

Mr. Roosevelt's typical reducing breakfast, although it varies, is one egg, one slice of bacon, one piece of toast and cup of coffee—half of his usual ration.

HARRISBURG, Pa. — (UP)—Pennsylvania colleges and universities turned out 10,997 graduates in June, a report of the Department of Public Instruction today showed.

Of this number, liberal arts colleges and universities gave degrees to 10,005, and the 14 State Teachers colleges graduated 992.

University of Pennsylvania led the field with 1,615 June graduates; Temple had 1,375 and University of Pittsburgh, 1,156. Pennsylvania State College had a new high of 846.

Rancher Dislikes Snake As Necktie

ALTRUS, Cal. — (UP)—Wearing a full-grown bull snake as a necktie wouldn't appeal much to Ray L. Ward, Modoc county rancher.

While operating a racket on his ranch recently one of the prongs went through the body of a snake as he dumped the load of hay. The snake was swirled through the air and wrapped about Ward's neck.

Ward lost no time in removing the wriggling necktie.

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, Aug. 5. (To the Editor of The Register:) Say, that old boy with one shot of tear gas on the New York Exchange did more than Roosevelt. He closed it. It must have been quite a novelty to see the brokers crying instead of the customers.

I been looking since yesterday into this income-tax payment. Now I can't find a single group to shoulder that tax either. There just don't seem to be any volunteer taxpayers. I see now what makes a Congressman so unpopular, he just will not fix it so that tax falls on nobody.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

rose several feet into the air and settled again between two sets of rails.

The bag, although nearly deflated, remained upright. Settle leaned from the hatch atop the gondola and called to witnesses: "I'm all right. Notify Soldier Field at once."

He then released the remainder of the hydrogen and the bag came to rest 70 feet away.

Flares were posted along the tracks to halt trains. Orders were given to re-route main passenger trains.

Thousands Watch
Thousands rushed to the scene. Many of the 20,000 who gathered in Soldier Field to see the take-off saw the ship start to descend and followed it.

Police and fire squads added to the confusion.

Settle's wife, one of the last to say goodbye to him before he settled himself in the gondola at the take-off, was among the first at his side. She raced from the stadium in an ambulance to the scene.

The take-off of the balloon, the largest ever constructed, was one of the world's fair's most spectacular events. The ship was built under supervision of Dr. Arthur Compton, of the University of Chicago, and Prof. Jean Piccard. The latter's brother, Auguste, two years ago conducted the first flight into the stratosphere in quest of scientific data on the cosmic ray.

Sponsors of the ill-fated flight, the Chicago Daily News and Century of Progress, said another would be made. It was possible, they said, that the next attempt would be in connection with the Gordon Bennett balloon races here in September.

GROGERS AND AUTO DEALERS CONVENE

More than 100 Santa Ana grocers met in the Smart and Final building on East First street last night in an attempt to iron out perplexing details of the state sales tax measure which has been in operation a few days.

Following discussion on the sales tax and ways to take care of it in grocery stores, the grocers decided to hold a county-wide meeting next Friday night at 7:45 o'clock in the same place to consider a fair code of ethics to be adopted in cooperation with the national recovery program.

A group of Santa Ana automobile dealers in Santa Ana met in the chamber of commerce this morning to discuss details of a tentative code of ethics which is being worked out.

CHICKEN THIEVES GIVEN JAIL TERM

Three men accused of attempting to steal chickens, David Garner, J. D. Garner and W. S. Grigsby, were sentenced to serve one year in the county jail as a condition of five years probation when they appeared before Judge James L. Allen in superior court yesterday afternoon.

The trio was accused of having attempted to steal a number of chickens from George Stephens, a rancher whose ranch is on Wagner road east of Placentia, on July 28.

Swimmer Saves Friend and Boat

Swimming ability of A. B. Culver, of Corona del Mar, came in handy yesterday. The small motorboat in which Culver and Ted Novis, of Pasadena, were riding stalled, with the result that the men were in momentary danger of being tossed out into the heavy seas, with Novis not being able to swim.

men it proposes whose names will carry their own commendation to the country:

"Senator Robert F. Wagner, chairman.

"Mr. William Green,

"Dr. Lee Wolman,

"Mr. John L. Lewis,

"Mr. Walter C. Tangle,

"Mr. Gerard Swope,

"Mr. Louis E. Kirstein."

An indication that an important pronouncement from the president was imminent was given by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery administrator after he had come from a conference at the Summer house.

"It will be a pippin," was Johnson's comment.

Friends of the administration looked for the pledge to furnish the final necessary thrust to insure complete success of the administration program.

Settle Strikes

They were confident that with the united support of both capital and labor strikes now in progress in various sections of the country would be speedily terminated in the interest of the nation at large.

The industrial and labor advisory boards joined in an appeal to all employers and labor interests to co-operate in eliminating any causes of disputes during the present emergency period.

They acknowledged progress being made in the last few weeks but stated it might be endangered by different interpretations of the president's re-employment agreement.

They asked that all concerned:

1. Respect the rights of both employers and employees.
2. Avoid aggressive action which tends to provoke industrial discord.
3. Strive earnestly and zealously to preserve industrial peace pending the construction and adoption of the industrial code applicable to all businesses, large and small.
4. The Wagner board was created, this appeal said, "to protect every interest," and to have a central agency "to which differences may be referred."

Equal Rights

"This appeal," the statement said, "is made to the sound judgment and patriotism of all our people in the belief that even the most vexatious problem can be settled with justice and expedition where employers and employees act in accord with the letter and spirit of the national recovery act, without fear that any just rights will thereby be impaired. In that way only can the re-employment agreement be made to apply with fairness pending the adoption of the codes."

The appeal was the newest action in the drive to get universal co-operation throughout the country until all industries can be brought under codes of fair practice. Settlement of the Pennsylvania coal strike and President Roosevelt's appeal for a moratorium on strikes were fitted into the general program aimed at establishing amicable relations which would a-oid the labor disturbances which usually mark emergence of a nation from times of depression.

Questions of interpreting the president's re-employment agreement have arisen in such number that the NRA felt more than the existing machinery was necessary to deal with the question.

The statement of the advisory boards said:

"Exceptional and peculiar conditions of employment, affecting small employers and others whose business circumstances merit special consideration will be handled with due regard to the facts and with the desire to achieve increased employment and purchasing power."

Common Cause

"The country in the past few weeks has had remarkable evidence of co-operation in the common cause of restoring employment and increasing purchasing power. Industrial codes are being introduced, considered and put into effect with all possible dispatch, and the number of firms coming under the president's re-employment agreement is inspiring."

"This gratifying progress may be endangered by differing interpretations of the president's re-employment agreement by some employers and employees."

"The industrial and labor advisory boards jointly appeal to those associated with industry—owners, managers and employees—to united in the preservation of industrial peace. Strikes and lockouts will increase unemployment and create a condition clearly out of harmony with spirit of the industrial recovery act. Through the application of the act the government is sincerely endeavoring to overcome unemployment through a nation-wide reduction in the hours of work and to increase purchasing power through an increase in wage rate."

"This objective can only be reached through co-operation on the part of all those associated with industry. In order to develop the greatest degree of co-operation and the highest type of service on the part of the management and labor, we urge that all causes of irritation and industrial discontent be removed so far as possible; that all concerned respect the rights of both employers and employees; avoid aggressive action which tends to provoke industrial discord, and strive earnestly and zealously to preserve industrial peace pending the construction and adoption of the industrial codes applicable to all business, large and small."

TWO DIVORCES GRANTED HERE: ONE ANNULLED

Two divorces and one annulment of a marriage were granted in superior court yesterday afternoon.

Florence Bissitt secured a divorce from Francis Bissitt when Judge James L. Allen granted an interlocutory decree. Mrs. Bissitt charged in the complaint for divorce that her husband was cruel and was interested in another woman. The court granted her $25 a month for support and attorney fees. The couple was married in June, 1924, and separated in April, 1928.

Judge Allen also granted a decree of divorce to Thelma Garland from Willard Garland, who was charged with cruelty and non-support. Mrs. Garland charged that her husband made her take her own money to support herself and him and that he took money from her purse to buy intoxicating liquor. Some time ago he deserted her and left for Buffalo, N. Y., she said. The couple was married

NEW RECORD IS OBJECT OF TWO FRENCH PILOTS

The huge silver colored monoplane, however, rose gracefully after a lengthy dash down the runway. It headed out over Jamaica bay and disappeared into the light morning haze.

A large supply of rations was placed aboard the plane before the take off. Included were five boned chickens, three dozen oranges, two dozen bananas, eight quarts of mineral water, two quarts of chicken consommé and seven quarts of black coffee.

Inflated Suits

A complete first aid kit, two life preservers and two inflated suits, were included in the equipment.

Codos and Rossi hoped to break the 6,255 mile-record held by two of their countrymen, Emil Rossi and Lucien Boussoin, who flew over a closed course at Oran, Algeria, in March, 1932. That flight lasted for 72 hours, 43 minutes.

With the huge fuel supply and a top speed of 150 miles an hour, they estimated they could remain in the air for 70 or more hours. That time, if weather conditions were favorable, might permit them to go beyond Baghdad, possibly to Karachi, India.

Both men are experienced flyers, Codos having 6,000 hours in the air and Rossi more than 3000. The former began flying with the French air corps during the war and was pilot of the plane Joseph Le Brix which established a distance record in a flight to Russia in 1931. Codos, 37, is a lieutenant in the French air reserve.

Rossi, 32, also is a pilot with a war record. He saw service in Africa during recent tribal wars and uprisings with the aid component of the French Foreign Legion.

Codos and Rossi live in Paris. He and Codos waited for weeks for favorable weather. Yesterday they were prepared to start when they received storm reports from the Newfoundland area.

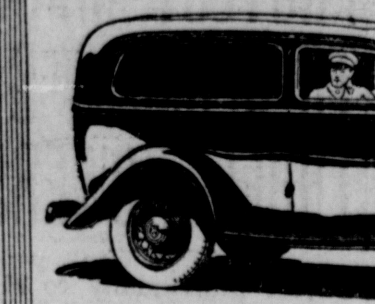

REGISTER SIGNS UP, UNDER NRA BANNER

The Santa Ana Register today enlisted formally under the banner of the Blue Eagle, signing the NRA blanket agreement in the drive to restore buying power and wipe out unemployment.

Employees, except members of the editorial and news staffs and typographical department, now will operate under a 40 hour weekly schedule at the same salary schedule which was paid for the longer hours.

Typographical workers are already operating on a schedule under the minimum 40 hour week in a voluntary effort to spread work among this class of workers.

After seeing his many curios from different parts of the world the boys were treated to the moving pictures Dr. Pullin took while on his South Seas and Orient cruise. One of the reels shows several miles of China's Great Wall.

In Dr. Pullin's collection is a series of pictures showing Pompeii destroyed by the volcanic eruption of 800 B. C. and being unearthed from the beginning of the 17th century.

Among those present were Frank and Raymond Oechel, San Fernando; Frederick Bloom, Kingsley Mathews, Howard McBride, Murray Tenberg, Buddy Herberman, Lathrop Plintom and Jack Smith, Los Angeles; Mikiie Fenton and Allen Evans, Long Beach; Gilbert Clayton, Walter Plant, Kenneth Holland, and Charles Colby, Hollywood; Alfred Edwards, Santa Barbara; Billie Forster, Eagle Rock; Buddie Hamilton, Alamogordo; Lee Edgar and Kenneth Kenyon, El Centro; Hugh Brooks, Charles Hammond and Cecil Kinsey, Santa Ana; Horace Munger, Irvine; Louis Larson, Davenport, Iowa, who is in charge of the gardens, and two of the councilors, Don Keller and Mert Butler.

Dr. Pullin's picture is titled "88 Minutes Around the South Seas and Orient."

SEVEN HURT AS CAR OVERTURNS ON PARK ROAD

Harry Frasier, 10-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Frasier, R. D. 1, box 182, Yorba Linda, is unconscious from a possible skull fracture and six other passengers in the car in which he was riding were cut up and bruised in a peculiar accident yesterday afternoon at 3 p. m. on the old Orange county park road near Irvine park.

The Frasier boy and Harry Stewart, 11, Placentia, were rushed to the St. Joseph's hospital by passing motorists while the others were taken to the Orange County hospital for first aid treatment. Mrs. Frasier was the most seriously hurt with cuts and lacerations, and she was able to go home after recovering from the shock at the hospital. Others hurt were George Slesabee, 11, Placentia, Mr. Frasier, 25, his small daughter, and another boy whose name was not learned.

Frasier, who was driving the group home from a picnic in Irvine park, said that he was rounding a turn and could not control the car. The machine crossed the roadway and overturned in a ditch, with the top of the heavy sedan being completely torn off by some trees. California Highway Patrolman Floyd Yoder investigated the wreck.

SHOOTING VICTIM GIVEN RELEASE

Tentative plans to file felony charges against John Goforth, Buena Park dairyman, following a family quarrel Wednesday in which his wife, Mrs. Lulu Goforth, shot him in the shoulder with a rifle, at their home, were dropped yesterday by the district attorney's office and a release was given to permit Goforth to leave the Orange county hospital last night where he has been confined from the gunshot wound.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Goforth were held after the shooting on investigation of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder but plans to press charges were dropped. After Mrs. Goforth shot her husband, he is alleged to have chased her brandishing a large frying pan.

Autoist Admits Drunk Driving

Pleading guilty to a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, Andrew Obledo made oral application for probation when he appeared before Judge James L. Allen in superior court yesterday afternoon. Obledo's hearing on the probation plea will be held August 11 at 10 a. m. He was arrested on July 23 while driving drunk on West Chapman avenue.

TRIO GRANTED PROBATION BY JUDGE SCOVEL

Clara Miller, Pearl Miller and F. W. Underwood, three hitchhikers charged with intent to commit theft and grand theft involving the theft of an automobile, were granted probation for three years by Judge G. K. Scovel in superior court yesterday afternoon on condition that they do not leave the seven southern counties during the probation period.

The trio was charged with having burglariously entered a house in Balboa and with having stolen an automobile, $44 in cash and a gun belonging to Bob Allen, the complaining witness.

According to the testimony offered during the trial, Allen had given the trio a ride in his car while on his way to San Diego. Later, it was said, it was decided to spend the night in Balboa before going on to San Diego. While Allen slept, it was said, the defendants left with the car, money and gun.

They were captured in El Centro, after having abandoned the car in San Diego the next day.

ROOSEVELT'S DIET SOUGHT BY NATION

WASHINGTON — (INS)—Mister Avolr du Bois, that congenial and self-satisfied American citizen whose wont is to permit little to interest him beyond his immediate sphere, has a new outlook on life. He has been inspired with new hopes and energy scans the Washington dispatches.

President Roosevelt is reducing! That's the biggest news for the fat that has emanated from the White House for all time.

And it is the most sincere. No trick motives prompted it. Advertising for any particular interest does not contaminate it nor does the president have anything to gain except to actually lose seven pounds of his own weight.

The White House secretaries are being besieged for "the president's diet" but Mr. Roosevelt is not following any set diet.

He is just eating less of the same general food he has been eating. The mansion's cook explained.

Usually only a salad constitutes his lunch but this is one meal the chief executive has eaten hurriedly since he entered office. Frequently it is brought to him at his desk in the executive conference room where he sits while conferring with his aides.

Eighteen-day diets, various exercises and countless "sure reducing cures" have been followed by the overweight but without success, their letters stated. Since the President of the United States is trying to lose seven pounds and drop back to his normal weight of 174, all the huge-waisted men and women of the land are eager to follow him.

Mr. Roosevelt's typical reducing breakfast, although it varies, is one egg, one slice of bacon, one piece of toast and cup of coffee—half of his usual ration.

10,997 Graduate In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Pa. — (UP)—Pennsylvania colleges and universities turned out 10,997 graduates in June, a report of the Department of Public Instruction today showed.

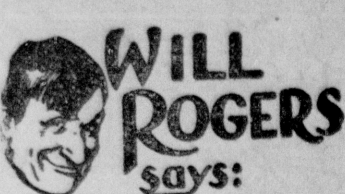

Of this number, liberal arts colleges and universities gave degrees to 10,005, and the 14 State Teachers colleges graduated 992.

University of Pennsylvania led the field with 1,615 June graduates; Temple had 1,376 and University of Pittsburgh, 1,156. Pennsylvania State College had a new high of 846.

Rancher Dislikes Snake As Necktie

ALTRUS, Cal. — (UP)—Wearing a full-grown bull snake as a necktie wouldn't appeal much to Ray L. Ward, Modoc county rancher. While operating a racket on his ranch recently one of the prongs went through the body of a snake. As he dumped the load of hay, the snake was swirled through the air and wrapped about Ward's neck.

Ward lost no time in removing the wriggling necktie.

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, Aug. 5. (To the Editor of The Register:) Say, that old boy with one shot of tear gas on the New York Exchange did more than Roosevelt. He closed it. It must have been quite a novelty to see the brokers crying instead of the customers.

I been looking since yesterday into this income-tax payment. Now I can't find a single group to shoulder that tax either. There just don't seem to be any volunteer taxpayers. I see now what makes a Congressman so unpopular, he just will not fix it so that tax falls on nobody.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

rose several feet into the air and settled again between two sets of rails.

The bag, although nearly deflated, remained upright. Settled leaped from the hatch atop the gondola and called to witnesses: "I'm all right. Notify Soldier Field at once."

He then released the remainder of the hydrogen and the bag came to rest 70 feet away.

Flares were posted along the tracks to halt trains. Orders were given to re-route main passenger trains.

Thousands Watch
Thousands rushed to the scene. Many of the 20,000 who gathered in Soldier Field to see the take-off saw the ship start to descend and followed it.

Police and fire squads added to the confusion.

Settle's wife, one of the last to say goodbye to him before he settled himself in the gondola at the take-off, was among the first at his side. She raced from the stadium in an ambulance to the scene.

The take-off of the balloon, the largest ever constructed, was one of the world's fair's most spectacular events. The ship was built under supervision of Dr. Arthur Compton, of the University of Chicago, and Prof. Jean Piccard. The latter's brother, Auguste, two years ago conducted the first flight into the stratosphere in quest of scientific data on the cosmic ray.

Sponsors of the ill-fated flight, the Chicago Daily News and Century of Progress, said another would be made. It was possible, they said, that the next attempt would be in connection with the Gordon Bennett balloon races here in September.

GROCCERS AND AUTO DEALERS CONVE

More than 100 Santa Ana grocers met in the Smart and Final building on East First street last night in an attempt to iron out perplexing details of the state sales tax measure which has been in operation a few days.

Following discussion on the sales tax and ways to take care of it in grocery stores, the grocers decided to hold a county-wide meeting next Friday night at 7:45 o'clock in the same place to consider a fair code of ethics to be adopted in cooperation with the national recovery program.

A group of Santa Ana automobile dealers in Santa Ana met in the chamber of commerce this morning to discuss details of a tentative code of ethics which is being worked out.

CHICKEN THIEVES GIVEN JAIL TERM

Three men accused of attempting to steal chickens, Duval Garner, J. D. Garner and W. S. Grisley, were sentenced to serve one year in the county jail as a condition of five years probation when they appeared before Judge James L. Allen in superior court yesterday afternoon.

The trio was accused of having attempted to steal a number of chickens from George Stephens, a rancher whose ranch is on Wagner road east of Placentia, on July 23.

Swimmer Saves Friend and Boat

Swimming ability of A. B. Culver, of Corona del Mar, came in handy yesterday. The small motorboat in which Culver and Ted Novis, of Pasadena, were riding stalled, with the result that the men were in momentary danger of being tossed out into the heavy sea, with Novis not being able to swim.

Failing to get any response to signals, Culver plunged into the water and swam to shore, securing the services of the Smith brothers, to tow them into the harbor.

CAPITAL LABOR IN AGREEMENT OVER DISPUTES

men it proposes whose names will carry their own commendation to the senator: Robert F. Wagner, chairman.

"Mr. William Green, "Mr. Lee Wolman, "Mr. John L. Lewis, "Mr. Walter C. Teagle, "Mr. Gerard Swope, "Mr. Louis E. Kirstein."

An indication that an important pronouncement from the president was imminent was given by Gen. H. H. Johnson, national recovery administrator after he had come from a conference at the Summer house.

"It will be a pippin," was Johnson's comment.

Friends of the administration looked for the pledge to furnish the final necessary thrust to insure complete success of the administration program.

Settle Strikes
They were confident that with the united support of both capital and labor strikes now in progress in various sections of the country would be speedily terminated in the interest of the nation at large.

The industrial and labor advisory boards joined in an appeal to all employers and labor interests to co-operate in eliminating any causes of disputes during the present emergency period.

They acknowledged progress being made in the last few weeks but stated it might be endangered by different interpretations of the president's re-employment agreement.

They asked that all concerned:

1. Respect the rights of both employers and employees.
2. Avoid aggressive action which tends to provoke industrial discord.
3. Strive earnestly and zealously to preserve industrial peace pending the construction and adoption of the industrial code applicable to all business, large and small.
4. The Wagner board was created, this appeal said, "to protect every interest," and to have a central agency "to which differences may be referred."

Equal Rights

"This appeal," the statement said, "is made to the sound judgment and patriotism of all our people in the belief that even the most vexatious problem can be settled with justice and expedition where employers and employees act in accord with the letter and spirit of the national recovery act without fear that any just rights will thereby be impaired. In that way only can the re-employment agreement be made to apply with fairness pending the adoption of the codes."

The appeal was the newest action in the drive to get universal co-operation throughout the country until all industries can be brought under codes of fair practice.

Settlement of the Pennsylvania coal strike and President Roosevelt's appeal for a moratorium on strikes were fitted into the general program aimed at establishing amicable relations which would avert the labor disturbances which usually mark emergence of a nation from times of depression.

Questions of interpreting the president's re-employment agreement have arisen in such number that the NRA felt more than the existing machinery was necessary to deal with the question.

The statement of the advisory boards said:

"Exceptional and peculiar conditions of employment affecting small employers and others whose business circumstances merit special consideration will be handled with due regard to the facts and with the desire to achieve increased employment and purchasing power."

Common Cause
"The country in the past few weeks has had remarkable evidence of co-operation in the common cause of restoring employment and increasing purchasing power. Industrial codes are being introduced, considered and put into effect with all possible dispatch, and the number of firms coming under the president's re-employment agreement is inspiring.

"This gratifying progress may be endangered by differing interpretations of the president's re-employment agreement by some employers and employees.

"The industrial and labor advisory boards jointly appeal to those associated with industry—owners, managers and employees—to unite in the preservation of industrial peace. Strikes and lockouts will increase unemployment and create a condition clearly out of harmony with spirit of the industrial recovery act. Through the application of the act the government is sincerely endeavoring to overcome unemployment through a nationwide reduction in the hours of work and to increase purchasing power through an increase in wage rates.

"This objective can only be reached through co-operation on the part of all those associated with industry. In order to develop the greatest degree of co-operation and the highest type of service on the part of the management and labor, we urge that all causes of irritation and industrial discontent be removed so far as possible; that all concerned respect the rights of both employers and employees; avoid aggressive action which tends to provoke industrial discord, and strive earnestly and zealously to preserve industrial peace pending the construction and adoption of the industrial codes applicable to all business, large and small."

Action Rescinded
Withdrawal of approval of a modification in the Presidential agreement for the Laundry Institute was a major development in the effort to give elasticity to the terms of the blanket code. The administration announced it had rescinded action taken yesterday by which specific schedules of wages and hours had been sanctioned to avoid subjecting this industry to undue hardship.

Johnson's action in this matter was due to discovery that the qualifications proposed by the Laundry Institute included a wage scale as low as 14 cents an hour in the South and 20 in the Southwest, for female workers engaged forty-five hours weekly. These scales had been marked "approved" yesterday by E. R. Stettinius, Jr., industrial adviser; L. E. Wolman, labor adviser, and Gen. Johnson.

The formal statement explaining this action was moderately phrased, but privately officials of the administration were determined they would not be trapped in such fashion again in the future.

NEW RECORD IS OBJECT OF TWO FRENCH PILOTS

The huge silver colored monoplane, however, rose gracefully after a lengthy dash down the runway. It headed out over Jamaica bay and disappeared into the light morning haze.

A large supply of rations was placed aboard the plane before the take off. Included were five boned chickens, three dozen oranges, two dozen bananas, eight quarts of mineral water, two quarts of chicken consommé and seven quarts of black coffee.

Inflated Suits

A complete first aid kit, two life preservers and two inflated suits, were included in the equipment.

Codos and Rossi hoped to break the 6,425 mile record held by two of their countrymen, Emil Rossi and Lucien Boussoin, who flew over a closed course at Oran, Algeria, in March, 1932. That flight lasted for 72 hours, 43 minutes.

With the huge fuel supply and a top speed of 150 miles an hour, they estimated they could remain in the air for 70 or more hours. That time, if weather conditions were favorable, might permit them to go beyond Bagdad, possibly to Karachi, India.

Both men are experienced flyers, Codos having 6,000 hours in the air and Rossi more than 3,000. The former began flying with the French air corps during the war and was pilot of the plane Joseph Le Brix which established a distance record in a flight to Russia in 1931. Codos, 37, is a lieutenant in the French air reserve.

Rossi, 32, also is a pilot with a war record. He saw service in Africa during recent tribal wars and uprisings with the aid command of the French Foreign Legion. He and Codos live in Paris.

Codos and Rossi waited for weeks for favorable weather. Yesterday they were prepared to start when they received storm reports from the Newfoundland area.

TWO DIVORCES GRANTED HERE: ONE ANNULED

Two divorces and one annulment of a marriage were granted in superior court yesterday afternoon.

Florence Bissitt secured a divorce from Francis Bissitt when Judge James L. Allen granted an interlocutory decree. Mrs. Bissitt charged in the complaint for divorce that her husband was cruel and was interested in another woman. The court granted her $25 a month for support and attorney fees. The couple was married in June, 1924, and separated in April, 1932.

Judge Allen also granted a decree of divorce to Thelma Garland from Willard Garland, who was charged with cruelty and non-support. Mrs. Garland charged that her husband made her take her own money to support herself and him and that he took money from her purse to buy intoxicating liquor. Some time ago he deserted her and left for Buffalo, N. Y., she said. The couple was married in Garden Grove in July, 1932, and separated in February, 1933.

Judge G. K. Scovel granted an annulment of marriage to Beale Fuller Wilson from her husband, Robert Lee Wilson. Mrs. Wilson charged her husband had deceived her by saying he had a $3800 trust fund. He would place in a joint bank account in Orange, which he never did, and that he changed her own account to a joint account and afterwards drew her $300 from the bank and left her.

REGISTER SIGNS UP UNDER NRA BANNER

The Santa Ana Register today enlisted formally under the banner of the Blue Eagle, signing the NRA blanket agreement in the drive to restore buying power and wipe out unemployment.

Employees, except members of the editorial and news staffs and typographical department, now will operate under a 40 hour weekly schedule at the same salary schedule which was paid for the longer hours.

Typographical workers are already operating on a schedule under the minimum 40 hour week in a voluntary effort to spread work among this class of workers.

GROUP ASSERTS VALUATION IS INSUFFICIENT

Legal opposition to the withdrawal of the Placentia union grammar school district from the Fullerton union high school district for the formation of a Placentia high school district was made evident today with the filing of a petition for a writ of review by taxpayers against the board of supervisors, in superior court.

A. J. Koch, Herman B. Lowe, M. Boisserane, Joseph Sanchez and E. L. Danker, through their attorney, B. Z. McKinney, today filed a writ of review, hearing on which was set for August 18 at 2 p. m. in Judge G. K. Scovel's department of superior court.

The opposition to the formation of the Placentia high school district is made on the grounds that the state law provides that no territory can be withdrawn from an existing high school district if it leaves the district with an assessed valuation of less than $20,000,000. It is claimed that the withdrawal would leave the Fullerton union high school district with between $19,000,000 and $20,000,000.

Another ground for the filing of the petition is that the state law provides that the district withdrawing must have an assessed valuation of $5,000,000 or more, while it is claimed that the Placentia high school district would have slightly less than that amount.

Voters of Placentia voted by a margin of about 250 votes to form their own high school district recently.

FACTS ON L. B. MAN'S DEATH IN PORTLAND TOLD

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 3.—Two persons saw Rhea Moson, 63, former Laguna Beach apartment house owner, collapse and fall from a four-story Portland, Ore., hotel window to his death, recently. Mrs. Lida L. Wool, his secretary, told friends here Friday. Calling at the home of former Mayor J. E. Bishop, 338 Jasmine street, Mrs. Wool brought the first news of the last tragic event in the life of the man whose death followed a long series of mishaps. Councilman Bishop was one of the witnesses to a will executed by Moson in which he left a $20,000 life insurance policy to Mrs. Wool.

Moson had been taken to Portland from Calgary, Mrs. Wool said. In the Canadian city he was attacked in a park by two men and a woman, hit over the head with a blunt instrument, stabbed with his own knife and robbed of a large sum of money. He was still very ill from the effect of his experience and Mrs. Wool, who had been accompanied on the trip by her sister, was caring for him. The night of the tragedy he was in great discomfort and Mrs. Wool called for a bell boy to assist her. Then Moson asked for the doctor. As she was phoning there was a knock at the door. She heard Moson get up from the bed and walk toward the window, gasping for breath. As she opened the door for the bell boy the latter uttered an exclamation and as she turned they both saw Moson collapse and tumble forward out of the window. Mrs. Wool came within inches of grabbing one of the sick man's legs.

A year ago Moson was seriously injured in an automobile accident in Laguna canyon and was laid up for four weeks. Then fire did $5000 damage to the Mar Vista apartments, which he owned.

Conger Thompson of Villa Park captured Nicholson, who lives in Long Beach, after a cross country chase near his home. Sheriff Logan Jackson and Deputy Sheriff George Graupensperger took the suspect to the hospital and the rumors of the wholesale killing were quieted in Orange and vicinity.

$2000 Bail Set In Bad Check Case

M. A. Rose, charged with issuing a bank check with intent to defraud, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Chris P. Pann in Santa Ana township court this morning and had his hearing set for August 17, at 10 a. m. Bail was fixed at $2000.

Mattie A. Turner, 924 East First street, complaining witness, charges that Rose gave a check for $20 to Leonard A. Turner at the Santa Ana Iron Works, which proved worthless. Rose was arrested in San Diego Thursday.

He's Singing Happy Days Are Here Again

If Bernard Flannagan, 1212 Orange avenue ever considered himself unlucky, his ideas were reversed last night.

He attended the show at the Fox West Coast theater last night and missed his pocketbook when he left the show. Since the purse contained $235 in cash and a number of Liberty bonds, he was considerably worried when he reported the loss to the box office.

Mrs. Ed Vost, wife of a former theater owner in Santa Ana, came in to see the second show and stepped on the pocketbook as she sat down in the seat occupied by Flannagan a few moments before. She immediately presented it at the box office and it was returned to the owner.

STABILIZATION PLAN APPROVED BY MOD HEADS

REDLANDS, Aug. 3.—Unanimous approval of the proposed national stabilization marketing agreement for oranges and grapefruit was voted by the directors of the Mutual Orange Distributors, Redlands, it was announced today by J. A. Steward, salesmanager of the M. O. D.

"The national stabilization plan contemplates the orderly production of orange and grapefruit shipments from California, Arizona, Florida, Texas, and Puerto Rico," Steward explained. "State committees will function through national committees in co-operation with a national co-ordinator to be appointed by Henry Wallace, secretary of agriculture of the United States."

A general committee of the representatives of California and Arizona shippers will be in Los Angeles on August 7. This meeting will have its purpose the securing of the ratification of the state stabilization plan for oranges and grapefruit. This plan will then be co-ordinated with other state plans by the secretary of agriculture. The working of the stabilization, when it has been finally developed, can be put into effect very quickly, Steward believes, and it could be in operation in all shipping districts of the United States by September 1.

Bruce W. McDaniel, general counsel for the M. O. D., is secretary of the national committee which met in Washington in July to develop the national plan. He will present the co-ordinating agreements to Secretary Wallace late in August.

Must Have Been In a Daze

Everybody doesn't try to avoid the new state sales tax and at least some people figure it ought to be paid, even on transactions which require no tax.

Of course, the fact that two couples this morning insisted on paying a sales tax when they applied for marriage licenses at the courthouse does not mean much. Maybe their visions of marital bliss inspired them with patriotic motives. Who knows?

ENDORSE PLAN FOR COUNTY V. F. W. COUNCIL

The formation of Orange County Council, Veterans Foreign Wars of the U. S., became an assured fact when Ernest L. Kellogg post No. 1680, at its meeting last night voted to join with Fullerton Post No. 2073 and Orange Post No. 2835 in establishing the council.

A meeting will be called at an early date, when the delegates from the three posts will elect the officers of the council and start a vigorous campaign for the institution in Orange county of several more posts of this, the oldest veteran organization, except the Grand Army of the Republic, local post officials said today.

Junior Vice Department Commander R. F. Nichols, of Los Angeles, was present, as were also Senior Vice Commander Harold Troeller and William Gunby, of Fullerton post and O. R. Minton, Junior vice commander of Orange post. All were enthusiastic over the prospects of the new organization assuming active participation in veteran affairs in Orange county.

Past Commander W. M. Kelsey, Commander Neal E. Meister, James Sullivan and Senior Vice Commander, Chas. E. Camm of Kellogg post were named as delegates to the council.

All posts in the county are co-operating in holding a monster barbecue, on Labor Day, in Shell Oil Co. park in Wire canyon, an announcement for the program of which will be made later.

On account of the show sponsored by Kellogg post, which will be given on September 1, the next regular business meeting will be held Friday evening September 15, at which time the nomination of officers for the ensuing year will be made.

PEACE OFFICER WARNS BOYS ON PETTY THIEVERY

"The boy who steals, or swipes, or snatches anything, however small, is laying the foundation for a habit that will probably land him in the penitentiary." So said G. F. McKelvey, deputy sheriff, in a talk before the Friday Nighters club of boys at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

"Most thieves start in with little things," said McKelvey. "They pick up stray nickels, swipe fruit or candy, pencils or pocket knives, and find that it is an easy way to get things. If they are not caught and promptly punished, they are likely to go on to larger things, and presently it becomes a matter for the police and the courts."

"The way to keep from becoming a thief is not to take anything that does not belong to you. No boy wants another to steal his possessions. Turn about is fair play, and no boy should treat another's property except as he is willing to have the other boy treat his."

"Parents need to help their children to be entirely honest. The boy who comes home with unexplained property in his possession, whether money or something else, should be made to give account of it. It is far easier to become a thief than it is to avoid the consequences of dishonesty."

"The peace officers have to deal continually with young men who are charged with theft, burglary and robbery, who state that the career of dishonesty started with swiping small articles, and then grew into more important items. No boy who steals a nickel or a knife and then lies about it expects to wind up in prison, but that is what he must consider, and prison is no place for an ambitious boy to go. The safe way is, don't steal, don't lie, don't be dishonest in any of your dealings, and then you may depend on it that you will never become a thief."

GROUP ASSERTS VALUATION IS INSUFFICIENT

Legal opposition to the withdrawal of the Placentia union grammar school district from the Fullerton union high school district for the formation of a Placentia high school district was made evident today with the filing of a petition for a writ of review by taxpayers against the board of supervisors, in superior court.

A. J. Koch, Herman B. Lowe, M. Boissereau, Joseph Sanchez and L. Duncker, through their attorney, B. Z. McKinney, today filed a writ of review, hearing on which was set for August 13 at 2 p. m. in Judge G. K. Scovel's department of superior court.

The opposition to the formation of the Placentia high school district is made on the grounds that the state law provides that no territory can be withdrawn from an existing high school district if it leaves the district with an assessed valuation of less than $20,000,000. It is claimed that the withdrawal would leave the Fullerton union high school district with between $19,000,000 and $20,000,000.

Another ground for the filing of the petition is that the state law provides that the district withdrawing must have an assessed valuation of $8,500,000 or more, while it is claimed that the Placentia high school district would have slightly less than that amount.

Voters of Placentia voted by a margin of about 250 votes to form their own high school district recently.

FACTS ON L. B. MAN'S DEATH IN PORTLAND TOLD

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 5.—Two persons saw Rhea Moson, 63, former Laguna Beach apartment house owner, collapse and fall from a four-story Portland, Ore., hotel window to his death, recently, Mrs. Lida L. Wool, his secretary, told friends here Friday. Calling at the home of former Mayor J. E. Bishop, 338 Jasmine street, Mrs. Wool brought the first news of the last tragic event in the life of the man whose death followed a long series of mishaps. Councilman Bishop was one of the witnesses to a will executed by Moson in which he left a $20,000 life insurance policy to Mrs. Wool.

Moson had been taken to Portland from Calvary, Mrs. Wool said, in the Canadian city he was attacked in a park by two men and a woman, hit over the head with a blunt instrument, stabbed with his own knife and robbed of a large sum of money. He was still very ill from the effect of his experience and Mrs. Wool, who had been accompanied on the trip by her sister, was caring for him. The night of the tragedy he was in great discomfort and Mrs. Wool called for a bell boy to assist her. Then Moson asked for the doctor. As she was phoning there was a knock at the door. She heard Moson get up from the bed and walk toward the window, gasping for breath. As she opened the door for the bell boy the latter uttered an exclamation and as she turned they both saw Moson collapse and tumble forward out of the window. Mrs. Wool came within inches of grabbing one of the sick man's legs.

A year ago Moson was seriously injured in an automobile accident in Laguna canyon and was laid up for four weeks. Then he did $5000 damage to the Mar Vista apartments, which he owned.

He's Singing Happy Days Are Here Again

If Bernard Flannagan, 1212 Orange avenue ever considered himself unlucky, his ideas were reversed last night.

He attended the show at the Fox West Coast theater last night and missed his pocketbook when he left the show. Since the purse contained $235 in cash and a number of Liberty bonds, he was considerably worried when he reported the loss to the box office.

Mrs. Ed Yost, wife of a former theater owner in Santa Ana, came in to see the second show and stepped on the pocketbook as she sat down in the seat occupied by Flannagan a few moments before. She immediately presented it at the box office and it was returned to the owner.

San Bernardino authorities failed to convict Luster on similar charges and is still holding his partner, James Martin Malthe, 22, Los Angeles. It is claimed that the men operated in San Bernardino, Los Angeles and Orange counties. They were arrested by a California highway patrol officer in Pomona.

STABILIZATION PLAN APPROVED BY MOD HEADS

REDLANDS, Aug. 5.—Unanimous approval of the proposed national stabilization marketing agreement for oranges and grapefruit was voted by the directors of the Mutual Orange Distributors, Redlands, it was announced today by J. A. Steward, salesmanager of the M. O. D.

The national stabilization plan contemplates the orderly proration of orange and grapefruit shipments from California, Arizona, Florida, Texas, and Puerto Rico," Steward explained. "State committees will function through national committees in co-operation with a national co-ordinator to be appointed by Henry Wallace, secretary of agriculture of the United States."

A general committee of the representatives of California and Arizona shippers will be in Los Angeles on August 7. This meeting will have its purpose the securing of the ratification of the state stabilization plan for oranges and grapefruit. This plan will then be co-ordinated with other state plans by the secretary of agriculture. The working of the stabilization, when it has been finally developed, can be put into effect very quickly, Steward believes, and it could be in operation in all shipping districts of the United States by September 1.

Bruce W. McDaniel, general counsel for the M. O. D., is secretary of the national committee which met in Washington in July to develop the national plan. He will present the co-ordinating agreements to Secretary Wallace late in August.

Must Have Been In a Daze

Everybody doesn't try to avoid the new state sales tax and at least some people figure it ought to be paid, even on transactions which require no tax.

Of course, the fact that two couples this morning insisted on paying a sales tax when they applied for marriage licenses at the courthouse does not mean much. Maybe their visions of marital bliss inspired them with patriotic motives. Who knows?

Peace Officer Warns Boys On Petty Thievery

"The boy who steals, or swipes, or snatches anything, however small, is laying the foundation for a habit that will probably land him in the penitentiary." So said G. F. McKelvey, deputy sheriff, in a talk before the Friday Nighters club of boys at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

"Most thieves start in with little things," said McKelvey. "They pick up stray nickels, swipe fruit or candy, pencils or pocket knives, and find that it is an easy way to get things. If they are not caught and promptly punished, they are likely to go on to larger things, and presently it becomes a matter for the police and the courts."

"The way to keep from becoming a thief is not to take anything that does not belong to you. No boy wants another to steal his possessions. Turn about is fair play, and no boy should treat another's property except as he is willing to have the other boy treat his."

"Parents need to help their children to be entirely honest. The boy who comes home with unexplained property in his possession, whether money or something else, should be made to give account of it. It is far easier to become a thief than it is to avoid the consequences of dishonesty."

"The peace officers have to deal continually with young men who are charged with theft, burglary and robbery, who state that the career of dishonesty started with swiping small articles, and then grew into more important items. No boy who steals a nickel or a knife and then lies about it expects to wind up in prison, but that is what he must consider, and prison is no place for an ambitious boy to go. The safe way is, don't steal, don't lie, don't be dishonest in any of your dealings, and then you may depend on it that you will never become a thief."

LON HUDKINS NEW HEAD OF CITY JOBLESS

Election of directors and officers and the submission of an annual report by Manager William Riddiman featured the first annual meeting of the Unemployed Association of Santa Ana, yesterday afternoon in Unemployed headquarters on North Main street.

New directors of the association named yesterday are Lon Hudkins, William Riddiman, Noah Floyd, Leo Stevens, E. P. Dunham, Jess Robinson, and William Heber. Old members of the board were William Riddiman, vice president and treasurer, T. M. Clark, Leo Stebbins, William Heber, P. S. Lucas and Charles Seber, chairman of the board. Ellen Tolin was secretary.

In an organization meeting, directors named Lon Hudkins chairman of the board, William Riddiman, vice president and treasurer and Olive Butler, secretary.

The board appointed the following officials and heads of committees: Riddiman, financial manager; Hudkins, in charge of committees; Floyd, in charge of industries; Dunham, in charge of contacts and solicitations; Stebbins, in charge of entertainment and ways and means; Heber, in charge of emergency relief; Ellen Tolin, in charge of investigations; W. Stevens, warden; Jess Robinson, resolutions; and Elmer Bergeson, sergeant-at-arms.

Makes Annual Report

In his annual report, Riddiman traced the history of the association and reviewed the activities of the past fiscal year. Part of the activities of the association as outlined in the report are as follows: "Our efforts have been to safeguard the interests of members and to help them in their difficulties. We have made friends with other communities with the result that we have had an abundance of fruits, fish, etc., with which to feed our families."

"We have been indeed fortunate to have been sponsored by such a public-spirited group as the Citizens' Emergency Relief committee. J. S. Smart spent many hours of his valuable time in the interest of the association and other members have been here every week to meet and discuss our problems with us. They have administered the funds raised by the community Chest. The Chest pledges did not come up to the expectation during these latter months and we have been somewhat handicapped of late. To date the Citizens' committee has helped us to the amount of $18,512.43."

"During the latter part of 1932 we helped reorganize the Orange County Council of Unemployed and belonged to this group until May of this year.

"Contrary to most beliefs, we have had very excellent cooperation from county officials. You must remember by law they are not allowed to help private organizations but they have shared with us beans, vegetables, oranges and other commodities. They think very highly of the work we have done."

Canning and Gardens

"We had an abundance of tomatoes, peaches, etc., last fall after consulting the Citizens' committee they bought a pressure cooker and sealer and were instrumental in purchasing tin cans in which to preserve the food. In all, some 23,000 cans of tomatoes and vegetables were put up. We also canned in glass, tomatoes and fruits and jams to the extent of 5000 jars."

"Through the cooperation of John Estes, we have been able to maintain about two and a half acres of vegetable gardens at Martha Lane. Our members worked this garden until it was made one of the projects of the R. F. C. At present we have a good supply of fresh vegetables each day and will have plenty during the coming season."

"Dr. Richard Foster offered his service to us in January of this year, and since that time has performed great service to our group. He had 1447 calls up to July 31, an average of 8.61 per day and the savings has been large to our members and to the county. He has performed many minor operations."

"About the only activity we have had for women of the association has been in the sewing room, where all crews have worked on quilts and other work. Special attention is called to the work of Mrs. Dillie Dykes and Mrs. C. Dunne."

Other Activities

"We estimate that about 3000 pairs of shoes were repaired in our repair shop during the season."

"No praise is too great for those who have worked for us in preparing meals for the workers. During the winter months soup was made in the kitchen to take home."

"During the year we have from three to four good barbers in attendance most of the time. The Barber's Union has kindly taken care of the matter of tools and linen. They have inspected our shop from time to time in the production of health."

"The woodyard supplies with quite a lot of work this year, but of late we have no activities along this line. Money derived from the sale of wood has gone into buying supplies for our commissary."

Mrs. Roosevelt In Reply to Letter On Women's Camps

FULLERTON, Aug. 5.—In response to a letter written to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt inquiring whether a petition from Orange county women asking her to consider and wield her influence in securing help for unemployed women, had been the suggestion that started her action in establishing camps for women, Mrs. Roosevelt replied that it was impossible to answer the letter accurately, since she had received so many letters regarding the question.

While in Southern California, it was reported Mrs. Roosevelt had said she had received some letters from Orange county women that had helped her to move toward assisting women. The one letter known to have been sent was written by Mrs. Florence De Baun of Brea. It was soon after this that word was received the work had been started among women.

Willard, at San Bernardino; one given by Mrs. Ficus and Mrs. Norton Canfield at the bride's parents' home, and one by Mrs. Baldwin at the parents' home.

The choir of the Methodist church serenaded the bride of the day by singing under her window at 5:15 a. m. "Today is Your Wedding Day," the bridal chorus from "Rose Maiden." Members of the choir were served breakfast by Mrs. Goodwin.

NEW HEAD OF CITY JOBLESS

Election of directors and officers and the submission of an annual report by Manager William Riddiman featured the first annual meeting of the Unemployed Association of Santa Ana, yesterday afternoon in Unemployed headquarters on North Main street.

New directors of the association named yesterday are Lon Hudkins, William Riddiman, Noah Floyd, Leo Stevens, B. F. Dunham, Jesse Robinson, and William Heber. Old members of the board were William Riddiman, vice president and treasurer, T. M. Clark, Leo Stebbins, William Heber, P. S. Lusk and Charles Seber, chairman of the board. Ellen Tolin was secretary.

In an organization meeting, directors named Lon Hudkins chairman of the board, William Riddiman, vice president and treasurer, and Olive Butler, secretary.

The board appointed the following officials and heads of committees: Riddiman, general manager; Hudkins, in charge of commissaries; Floyd, in charge of industries; Dunham, in charge of contacts and solicitations; Stebbins, in charge of entertainment and ways and means; Heber, in charge of emergency relief; Ellen Tolin, in charge of investigations; W. Lusk, in charge of resolutions, and Elmer Bergeson, sergeant-at-arms.

Makes Annual Report
In his annual report, Riddiman traces the history of the association and reviewed the activities of the past fiscal year. Part of the activities of the association as outlined in the report are as follows:

"Our efforts have been to safeguard the interests of members and to help them in their difficulties. We have made friends with other communities with the result that we have had an abundance of fruits, fish, etc., with which to feed our families."

"We have been indeed fortunate to have been sponsored by such a public-spirited group as the Citizens' Emergency Relief committee. J. S. Smart spent many hours of his valuable time in the interest of the association and other members have been here every week to meet and discuss our problems with us. They have administered the funds raised by the Community Chest. The Chest pledges did not come up to the expectation during these latter months and we have been somewhat handicapped of late. To date the Citizens' committee has helped us to the amount of $15,513.43."

"During the latter part of 1932 we helped reorganize the Orange County Council of Unemployed and this group until May of this year."

"Contrary to most beliefs, we have had very excellent cooperation from county officials. You must remember by law they are not allowed to help private organizations but they have shared with us beans, vegetables, oranges and other commodities. They think very highly of the work we have done."

Canning and Gardens
"We had an abundance of tomatoes, peaches, etc., last fall after consulting the Citizens' committee they bought a pressure cooker and sealer and were instrumental in purchasing tin cans in which to preserve the food. In all, some 23,000 cans of tomato and vegetable jams were put up. We also canned in glass, tomatoes and fruits and jams to the extent of 5000 jars."

"Through the cooperation of John Ester have been able to maintain about two and a half acres of vegetable gardens at Martha Lane. Our own members worked this patch until it was made one of the projects of the R. F. C. At present we have a good supply of fresh vegetables each day and will have plenty during the coming season."

"Dr. Richard Foster offered his service to us in January of this year, and since that time has performed great service to our group. He had 1447 calls up to July 31, an average of 8.41 per day and the service has been large to our members and to the county. He has performed many minor operations."

"About the only activity we have had for women of the association has been in the sewing room, where full crews have worked on quilts and other work. Special attention is called to the work of Mrs. Dillie Dykes and Mrs. C. Dunne."

Other Activities
"We estimate that about 3000 pairs of shoes were repaired in our repair shop during the season."

"No praise is too great for those who have worked for us in preparing meals for the workers. During the winter months soup was made in the kitchen to take home."

"During the year we have from three to four good barbers in attendance most of the time. The Barber's Union has kindly taken care of the matter of tools and linen. They have inspected our shop from time to time in the protection of health."

"The woodyard supplies with quite a lot of work this year, but of late we have no activities along this line. Money derived from the sale of wood has gone into buying supplies for our commissaries."

"Various entertainments have been given for members of the association and their families during the year, which have added much to the enjoyment of those attending."

DRUGGISTS OF ANAHEIM IN SLANDER SUIT

Charging slander, Harry Astric, proprietor of a cut-rate drug store in Anaheim, is seeking to obtain judgment for $7000 from George A. Henry, another Anaheim druggist, in a suit filed late yesterday in superior court.

The complaint charges that Henry secured the services of six small boys to visit Astric's store and to yell such phrases as "We want Harry, the kike," "Where is Harry, the Jew?" and similar remarks.

Following the first alleged offense, on July 1, the complaint charges that on July 8 Henry caused six boys to repeat the same performance in front of Astric's store. The complaint holds that the word "kike" is contemptuous and obnoxious.

It is further alleged that in the presence of the defendant and of a third person, Henry shouted "Get out of this store, you dirty kike or I'll smash you," when Astric called on Henry to complain of the alleged slanderous remarks. Astric, through his attorneys, asks that the court grant him $5000 as damages to his reputation and $2000 as damages for loss of trade caused by the actions of Henry.

STRONG MAN

Celebrating his 71st birthday, Steven A. Clark will give a demonstration of strong man stunts at his home here Monday night.

S. A. CLARK TO PERFORM FEATS MONDAY NIGHT

S. A. Clark, well-known strong man and former blacksmith, will offer another of his typical birthday celebrations Monday night with a demonstration of strong man stunts at his home at 519 North Artesia street.

Clark entertains his friends every year and is planning a special program for his seventy-first birthday Monday, starting at 7:30 p. m. One of his stunts will be to lift 300 pounds of dead weight, while he will perform another difficult feat of laying on his back and with his hands behind his head, raise an 89 pound dumbbell with both hands and a 53 pound dumbbell in one hand.

Bending a steel rod five-eighths of an inch thick, by placing it in his mouth and pulling on each end, will be another of his stunts. Among his other demonstrations will be to lift a 52 pound weight over his head and back, kick 10 inches over his head, chin the bar with 100 or more pounds around his neck, and pick up a chair with a small boy in it by the bottom rung.

Beside the demonstrations of strength, three reels of the picture "Neat Heart" will be shown and one reel of Clark's stunts. Bruce Mayhugh, bandleader of the four Square Gospel church, will offer musical numbers. The public is invited.

Clark declares that he maintains his strength by avoiding intoxicants, tobacco, profanity and excess eating and that he has never taken a drink in his life.

DuPre, who graduated from Santa Ana Junior college last June and who is well known here, has an important role in the play "Love's Passport" which had a 17 weeks' run in Los Angeles last year. His sister, Virginia DuPre, also has a part in this production which opens Monday in Los Angeles.

Postponed Jail Term Four Years, Now Behind Bars

Convicted in 1929 of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder, Juan Rosales, 38, never served his sentence because he took advantage of a 30-day stay of execution to make good his escape from the county. Sheriff's officers learned that he was serving a two-month jail sentence in San Bernardino and were waiting yesterday at the jail door when he was released. As a consequence, Rosales will spend the next six months in the Orange county jail and will not be granted another stay of execution to take care of his business affairs.

Orange Man Held On Noise Charge

W. Swayze yesterday and his trial was set for 9:30 a. m., August 14.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG -- News Behind the News --

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

ABIE
It will be interesting to see whether one Abie Goodman finally steps out of the penitentiary 10 days hence on parole.

Abie is completing the second year of a four-year sentence for having been discovered in New York with a ton of opium in his possession. The narcotics bureau is very much opposed to his parole. They think privately that Abie took a rap for a higher-up—say Waxie Gordon, the big Manhattan racketeer, for instance—and if he won't talk they want him to finish out his sentence.

The wealthy Mr. Goodman—a ton of opium represents about half a million in cold cash—has had his ups and downs in getting out of jail. He became eligible for parole last November. It was denied the month following. Then a gentleman named Ormon Ewing stepped into the picture. This was quite recently. Ewing is Democratic national committeeman for Utah. Goodman's case was reopened. On July 5 the parole board decided his good behavior entitled him to leap from durance vile on August 15.

Ewing's activity in the case was unknown to most of the powers that be until stories were printed that he was appearing in Philadelphia trying to get a permit restored to the Harrison Cereal Beverage company. This is one of Waxie Gordon's breweries. Its license was revoked after a little gunplay in Elizabeth, N. J., that left two of Waxie's chief lieutenants dead and a herring. Unfortunately they died with the now-famous permit No. 315 in their room.

It was right after the Philadelphia story appeared that Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Stephen B. Gibbons, one of Postmaster General Farley's close aids in political matters, heard that Ewing also had been active in the Goodman case. The narcotics bureau reports to Gibbons it has long suspected Waxie Gordon was dealing in dope as well as liquor and that Goodman was his front man for the hop.

Gibbons sat down and wrote a vigorous letter of protest to the parole board against Goodman's release.

On the morning of August 1, the parole board said Goodman was still set to go free on the 15th.

That same afternoon the board decided to hold a meeting the following day and start a further review of the New Yorker's parole appeal.

PAROLES

Those who have charge of enforcement of our dope laws are just a little resentful about the situation in general.

When a narcotics prisoner gets paroled the narcotics bureau isn't informed of the fact. Particularly when the prisoner is a big shot they'd like to look after him quietly a bit and make sure he doesn't return to his old racket. They are opposed to parole of a man like Goodman. They feel that if he won't reveal his superiors there is no valid reason why he should be set free in half his sentenced time.

Among themselves they hold that leniency for such men doesn't fit in with President Roosevelt's drive against racketeering of the more vicious type.

PITILESS

The Blue Eagle is going to be king of the skies or else.

No stone is being left unturned in the administration's drive to make the nation code-conscious. There is only one weapon President Roosevelt and General Johnson have in putting NRA over. That is the stock-phased "pitiless publicity."

They're going the limit. You all know the expression "live by the sword and die by the sword." Administration officials are substituting the word "publicity."

MICHELSON

No better perspective of the White House determination could be given than the recent quiet notice that Charlie Michelson was supervising things temporarily down at National Recovery administration so far as publicity was concerned.

Michelson is the gentleman who publicized the Democratic party into a couple of swell victories in the last two elections. Since inauguration he has been a prime trouble-shooter.

Charlie has nursed one after another of the New Deal officials into a proper idea of what publicity means to a politician. He carried the light for Treasury Secretary Woodin when banks just couldn't open. Then he went to London to point the way for the American delegation at the London Economic conference.

Now he's mixing into NRA publicity very unofficially—but effectively.

It's the second time a press agent boss for codes has been superimposed on Boaz Long, who started things rolling. Long was side-tracked by the old Liberty loan crowd. Michelson is now in the saddle—even though all concerned might deny it.

Those who are doing the heavy work will still be there for the most part after the Big Push is over. They are delivering in a fashion that the Washington corps of newspapermen have never seen before. Mostly it seems to be a slight hysteria on the part of those in final command.

As was indicated at the start of this item all of you are supposed to hit the ball with NRA—or else.

NOTES

Ask one of the harassed boys and girls around an emergency office of the government about codes....Uncle Sam doesn't seem to be practicing what he preaches....Call in one of the minor New Dealers and interrogate him....If he could be persuaded to feed up the much-vaunted 35-hour week would be well out of the window...."Don't do as we do, do as we say," seems to be the slogan hereabouts....They work their small fry beyond all existing law....This is hung up in the name of patriotism....Don't ask any more about the forgotten man....It has been decided all around that he's any congressman.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

UNDERTONES

While New York in general is loyal to the Blue Eagle undertones are developing which will have to be dealt with.

Most of the big-timers are well sold on the idea. But Timid Tennessees are beginning to worry and fret and whisper.

Their worries are chiefly directed along two lines. One is the fear that higher prices will kill off sales. It is argued that the boom in business has been sustained because people were buying in anticipation of increased prices and that they will stop purchasing when they have to pay more. Some companies are beginning to pull in their production horns already.

The best authorities say this theory is strictly the bunk. History shows that people always buy on a rising market—especially if they have something to use for money. But it will take 100-proof sales to prove it to those who are seeing ghosts.

Influential New Yorkers are thus urging the government to step on the gas with its public works program. They claim a backbone stream of steady orders to certain industries would do more to cure this kind of viewing with alarm than any other tonic.

The second chief worry has to do with the fate of marginal producers—companies which are working with such a thin edge of profit that a rise in labor costs would shove them off the deep end. Hundreds of such companies have been besieging Washington with appeals for exemption from the blanket code. They are still in the dark as to what will happen.

Informed New Yorkers say that NRA will be lenient about giving them a chance to get adjusted. That was the purpose of the apparent hedge when General Johnson asked the public not to be too tough with those who could not comply at once with Eagle requirements.

But in the long run it will be just too bad for those who can not survive on a living wage basis. Lots of those who doubt their abilities to do so will find out different.

Quite a few business men still haven't got it through their heads that the new deal does not imply prohibition of profits. They will learn.

LAG

Still another factor which may cramp recovery's style unless the public understands it is the time lag between the creation of new purchasing power and its use.

Millions of people have debts which they will pay out of new jobs or higher wages before they begin to spend as they like. So don't jump to the conclusion that NRA has failed if large-scale spending is not immediately apparent.

EAGLE

General Johnson's public howling out of the Lebanon Shirt company for misuse of the Blue Eagle had a salutary effect here. It convinced sceptical New Yorkers that the general means business. Publicity is rated A-1 medicine for would-be chiselers.

RETAIL

Temporary concession of the 48 hour week to small town retailers was merely a strategic retreat in the interest of practicality. Many of them had been working 60 hours and more and a sudden shift to 40 was a tough problem. Big city stores are not affected by the respite.

BANKS

The New York banks have finally doped it out that a 163 hour month is OK with them. They objected to the weekly system because of their month-end peak load. NRA is expected to accept the arrangement.

One large New York bank found its only code problem in connection with its 56 hour week night watchmen. It is considering a trick solution. It will fire the men, pension them at their present wages, and leave them on the job. The law says nothing about pensions.

SIDELIGHTS

An employment agency offered the local NRA office stenographers at $10 a week....Administrator Hodgson declined without thanks....He thought they had quite a nerve....The telephone company is happy....Increased income from long distance calls now outweighs the loss from cancelled phones....New York to Washington wires never get a chance to cool off....Add signs of recovery....Last week motion picture income ran ahead of the corresponding week a year before....It's the first time that has happened since B.D. (Copyright, 1933, McClure Newspaper Synd.)

STRONG MAN Celebrating his 71st Birthday, Steven A. Clark will give a demonstration of strong man stunts at his home here Monday night.

New Reo Shifting Arouses Interest

Since the introduction of the new Reo with its sensational self-shifting mechanism there has been manifested a public interest and general sales activity unprecedented during the past two years, according to W. W. Woods, Reo dealer for Reo in Santa Ana.

"This," says Mr. Woods, "is not only my experience here but the same story comes from all over the coast and the country at large. The instant acceptance of this revolutionary device would make it seem that this was just the one thing the motoring public has been looking for."

"The absence of the shift gear lever in the center of the front compartment, the additional room for a third person to sit there in comfort, is another feature that has a wide appeal. There is perfect control of the car at all times, a certainty that one is always using the proper gear automatically, and the fact that it makes possible an easy exit from the car on the right hand side."

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG -- News Behind the News --

WASHINGTON By George Durno

ABIE It will be interesting to see whether one Abie Goodman finally steps out of the penitentiary 10 days hence on parole.

Abie is completing the second year of a four-year sentence for having been discovered in New York with a ton of opium in his possession. The narcotics bureau is very much opposed to his parole. They think privately that Abie took a rap for a higher-up—was Wackie Gordon, the big Manhattan racketeer, for instance—and if he won't talk they want him to finish out his sentence.

The wealthy Mr. Goodman—a ton of opium represents about half a million in cold cash—has had his ups and downs in getting out of jail.

He became eligible for parole last November. It was denied the month following. Then a gentleman named Ormon Ewing stepped into the picture. This was quite recently. Ewing is Democratic national committeeman for Utah. Goodman's case was reopened. On July 5 the parole board decided his good behavior entitled him to leap from durance vile on August 15.

Ewing's activity in the case was unknown to most of the powers that be until stories were printed that he was appearing in Philadelphia trying to get a permit to store in the Harrison Cereal Beverage company. This is one of Wackie Gordon's breweries. Its license was revoked after a little gunplay in Elizabeth, N. J., that left two of Wackie's chief lieutenants dead and a herring. Unfortunately they died with the now-famous permit No. 315 in their room.

It was right after the Philadelphia story appeared that Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Stephen B. Gibbons, one of Postmaster General Farley's close aids in political matters, heard that Ewing also had been active in the Goodman case. The narcotics bureau reports to Gibbons it has more than suspected Wackie Gordon was dealing in dope as well as liquor and that Goodman was his front man for the hop.

Gibbons sat down and wrote a vigorous letter of protest to the parole board against Goodman's release. On the morning of August 1, the parole board said Goodman was still set to go free on the 15th.

That same afternoon the board decided to hold a meeting the following day and start a further review of the New Yorker's parole appeal.

PAROLES

Those who have charge of enforcement of our dope laws are just a little resentful about the situation in general.

When a narcotics prisoner gets paroled the narcotics bureau isn't informed of the fact. Particularly when the prisoner is a big shot like Goodman, they don't like to look after him quietly. A hit and make sure he doesn't return to his old racket. They are opposed to parole of a man like Goodman. They feel that if he won't reveal his superiors there is no valid reason why he should be set free in half his sentenced time.

Among themselves they hold that leniency for such men doesn't fit in with President Roosevelt's drive against racketeering of the more vicious type.

PITILES

The Blue Eagle is going to be king of the skies or else. No stone is being left unturned in the administration's drive to make the nation code-conscious. There is only one weapon President Roosevelt and General Johnson have in putting NRA over. That is the stock-phased "pitiless publicity."

They're going the limit. You all know the expression "live by the sword and die by the sword." Administration officials are substituting the word "publicity."

MICHELSON

No better perspective of the White House determination could be given in the recent quiet notice that Charlie Michelson was supervising things temporarily down at National Recovery administration so far as publicity was concerned.

Michelson is the gentleman who publicized the Democratic party into a couple of swell victories in the last two elections. Since inauguration he has been a prime trouble-shooter.

Charlie has nursed one after another of the New Deal officials into a proper idea of what publicity means to a politician. He carried the Light for Banksy Secretary Woodin when banksy just couldn't open. Then he went to London to point the way for the American delegation at the London Economic conference.

Now he's mixing into NRA publicity very unofficially—but effectively.

It's the second time a press-agent boss for codes has been superimposed on Boaz Long, who started things rolling. Long was side-tracked by the old Liberty loan crowd. Michelson is now in the saddle—even though all concerned might deny it.

Those who are doing the heavy work will still be there for the most part after the Big Push is over. They are delivering in a fashion that the Washington corps of newspapermen have never seen before. Mostly it seems to be a slight hysteria on the part of those in final command.

As was indicated at the start of this item all of you are supposed to hit the ball with NRA—or else.

NOTES

Ask one of the harassed boys and girls around an emergency office of the government about codes. Uncle Sam doesn't seem to be practicing what he preaches. Call in one of the minor New Dealers and interrogate him. If he could be persuaded to fess up the much-vaunted 35-hour week would be well out of the window. "Don't do as we do, do as we say," seems to be the slogan hereabouts. They work their small fry beyond all existing law. This is hung up in the name of patriotism. Don't ask any more about the forgotten man. It has been decided all around that he's a congressman.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

UNDERTONES

While New York in general is loyal to the Blue Eagle undertones are developing which will have to be dealt with.

Most of the big-timers are well sold on the idea. But Timid Tennessees are beginning to worry and fret and whisper.

Their worries are chiefly directed along two lines. One is the fear that higher prices will kill off sales. It is argued that the boom in business has been sustained because people were buying in anticipation of increased prices and that they will stop purchasing when they have to pay more. Some companies are beginning to pull in their production horns already.

The best authorities say this theory is strictly the bunk. History shows that people always buy on a rising market—especially if they have something to use for money. But it will take 100-proof sales to prove it to those who are seeing ghosts.

Influential New Yorkers are thus urging the government to step on the gas with its public works program. They claim a backbone stream of steady orders to certain industries would do more to cure this kind of viewing with alarm than any other tonic.

The second chief worry has to do with the fate of marginal producers—companies which are working with such a thin edge of profit that a rise in labor costs would shove them off the deep end. Hundreds of such companies have been besieging Washington with appeals for exemption from the blanket code. They are still in the dark as to what will happen.

Informed New Yorkers say that NRA will be lenient about giving them a chance to get adjusted. That was the purpose of the apparent hedge when General Johnson asked the public not to be too rough with those who could not comply at once with Eagle requirements.

But in the long run it will be just too bad for those who can not survive on a living wage basis. Lots of those who doubt their abilities to do so will find out differently.

Quite a few business men still haven't got it through their heads that the new deal does not imply prohibition of profits. They will learn.

LAQ Still another factor which may cramp recovery's style unless the public understands it is the time lag between the creation of new purchasing power and its use. Millions of people have debts which they will pay out of new jobs or higher wages before they begin to spend as they like. So don't jump to the conclusion that NRA has failed if large-scale spending is not immediately apparent.

Well-informed New Yorkers say that none of these points is important enough to rock the boat. But they hope General Johnson and his co-pilots will be fully prepared to meet them as they arise.

EAGLE

General Johnson's public bawling out of the Lebanon Shirt company for misuse of the Blue Eagle had a salutary effect here. It convinced sceptical New Yorkers that the general means business. Publicity is rated A-1 medicine for would-be chiselers.

RETAIL

Temporary concession of the 48 hour week to small town retailers was merely a strategic retreat in the interest of practicality. Many of them had been working 60 hours and more and a sudden shift to 40 was a tough problem Big city stores are not affected by the respite.

BANKS

The New York banks have finally doped it out that a 163 hour month is OK with them. They objected to the weekly system because of their month-end peak load. NRA is expected to accept the arrangement.

One large New York bank found its only code problem in connection with its 56 hour week night watchman. It is considering a trick solution. It will fire the men, pension them at their present wages, and leave them on the job. The law says nothing about pensions.

SIDELIGHTS

An employment agency offered the local NRA office stenographers $10 a week. Administrator Hodgeson declined without thanks. He thought they had quite a nerve. The telephone company is happy. Increased income from long distance calls now outweighs the loss from cancelled phones. New York to Washington wires never get a chance to cool off. Add signs of recovery. Last week motion picture income ran ahead of the corresponding week a year before. It's the first time that has happened since B. D. (Copy'r. 1933, McClure Newspaper-Syn.)

GRAZE IN STREETS

MIDLAND, Texas (UP)—The streets of Tulsa soon will be given over to cattle, who will graze where city streets now are laid out—not the oil capital of Oklahoma but a small Winkler County townsite where no town ever got started. Mrs. Arna Wood, owner of the land, has requested that the site be turned back to cattle. She objected to paying city taxes where no city exists.

In a stunning reversal of form the Santa Ana Elks spoiled the undefeated record of the First National Bank in the Santa Ana City league at the Municipal Bowl last night. The B. P. O. E. victory while close was decisive, 7-5.

Two nights before, the first-half champion Elks acted like rank tailenders while losing to Hoffman's Rebotomy, 11-1. They were an entirely different club against the Bankers, hitting hard and playing errorless ball behind their two new pitchers, Dugger and Hill.

Nevertheless, many Elks bingles were wasted and the First Nationals were within striking distance until the last inning when both sides did the bulk of their run making. The Elks scored four times in their part, running the lead to 7-1. Dugger exploded in the last half and had to have the assistance of Hill who finally cooled a rally that netted the First Nationals four runs.

Hoffman's Rebotomy scored its fourth win in the second-half season last in the evening, defeating the South Methodists, 9-6. Fifth inning homers by Clark and Beaver, each with one aboard, put the Elks under the churchmen. Urdine also contributed a homer to the Hoffman cause.

The next City league contests are scheduled Tuesday: Weber's Bakery vs. First National Bank, 7 p.m.; Baptists vs. Elks, 8 p.m.

HOOKS and SLIDES

by WILLIAM BRAUCHER

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Jimmy Fox thinks it's possible, "but not hardly probable" for him to break Babe Ruth's homer mark this year . . . and says those few days he was laid up by injuries threw him off his stride. . . . Joe Cronin is a religious young fellow . . . makes the sign of the cross in the dirt with his bat every time he comes up. . . . Jack Sharkey, since his defeat by Carnera, is spending his every moment fishing . . . and it's said he could lick Doc Walton any day he hurled a fly.

A HORSE ON US

Europeans—especially the turk-mind sort—seldom are willing to give Americans credit where it is due in raising horses. But they are perfectly willing to give us all the credit for the infamous practice of doping thoroughbreds. And credit rightfully belongs to this country.

Doping race horses, however, is no recent innovation, the recent Arlington Park arrests to the contrary notwithstanding. Nor is it indulged in now as frequently as in past years.

A horse may be doped to win or to lose. Heroin is the commonest form of narcotic used in the former case, and laudanum in the latter. But the laudanum method is seldom used, except when racketeers get set to make a betting coup, since race tracks do not pay off on losing horses.

Doesn't work always

It is generally the man with the one-horse stable that resorts to the use of narcotics to make his horse run. This man has the erroneous idea that a shot of "hop" will make his player run like a Twenty Grand. He doesn't seem to realize that nothing short of the supernatural will get his horse to outrun faster than his particular set of muscles will permit him to run. And a shot of dope will not teach him to keep his horse away from the "doctor."

Doping is a peculiarly unreliable method of trying to make a horse win. It works over a very short period of time and must be administered expertly and with the time element considered. If the horses are slow in getting away the dope may have worked off. If there is no delay at the post it may work after the race is over.

And then, too, track officials are always able to spot the doped horses. Dope makes the cells expand, and the horse sweats profusely, and if he hasn't warmed up for the race the judges know the correct answer.

"HONEST DOPE"

The big stables seldom use dope on horses, and then only in the case of the dishonest ones. If a horse starts to balk just about post time, a shot of hop will bring him out of it and make him feel his real self. He will then give an "honest" account of himself.

There have been many notorious "hop horses," and for the most part their career has been short, though not necessarily inglorious. Dope does not seem to injure their career in the breeding paddocks. No mare in America has so enviable a record as Lady Sterling. She foaled the mighty horses Sir Barton, St. Henry and Sir Martin, and her daughter, Lady Doreen, was the mother of the great Princess Doreen. Yet Lady Sterling was a notorious "hop horse."

But by any code, doping the "bang-tails" is an inhuman practice, and many states now have laws to curb it.

Suspension Given To Young Tommy

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 5.—(INS)—Young Tommy, Filipino claimant to the world's bantamweight boxing title, now en route by airplane to Mexico City to fight Baby Face Casanova Aug. 12, today was under suspension by the California athletic commission for boxing in a sals victory last Sabbath over Santa Anita inmate.

Manager Joe Erwin plans to start Gordon Mallett on the ridge, with "Puzzey" Page, who beat Laguna last Sunday, in reserve. There is a possibility that Stan Wright, who is hitting at a .540 clip for the Servicemen, will return from Monterey in time to join the lineup.

Other games tomorrow: Orange vs. California Star Flour at Santa Anita; Newport Beach at Laguna Beach.

SHARKEY HITS EX-CHAMPION'S FUTILE TRAIL

By WERNER LAUFER
NEA Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—In the belief that it was his own year's idleness rather than the upstart of Primo Carnera that took away his championship, Jack Sharkey has set out on the trail nearly all the other ex-champions trod before him. But it is a trail that for men past 30, leads nowhere.

In signing for a fight with King Levinsky in September in Chicago, Sharkey is expressing the conviction that he can come back, that he was trained for only a short fight against Primo and that he still can outbox most of the heavyweight stumblebumps extant—with profit.

Sharkey should beat the wild-swinging Levinsky. The Kingfish is a rugged battler, but over the ten-round route, Sharkey should be able to win by sheer boxing ability alone. The Carnera fight showed him what he will have to do in the way of training for this one.

After that the Boston sailor wants another crack at Tommy Loughran. He is sure he can beat Tommy, who also is beginning to show the effects of age and the wars.

Those two fights will let Sharkey know exactly where he stands as to physical condition. If Levinsky beats him Sharkey probably will hang up the gloves for good.

It would be entirely in keeping with the makeup of the ex-champion if he should begin now to fight calmly and seriously, keeping those jittery emotions of his under control.

But then there is this against the Sharkey man. The chronicles of the ring are full of the pathetic stories of ex-champions who tried to come back and who found it a vain pursuit.

FLEET HOUNDS FACE COMPTON'S BARRIER

An eleven-event greyhound racing program, the outstanding card at Compton's today, has been arranged for tonight at 8:15 by Secretary Tom W. Benner.

Such famous greyhounds as Castlemaine, Houdini, Prince Don, Cash Winner, champions of Miami, Jeffersonville, Ind., and Chicago will compete in one of the stellar events of the evening.

The great Dancing Officer, recognized as one of the greatest, if not the fastest runner starting the world, will leave the starting box in a match race with Honored Officer, another top-box runner from the Oswald Brothers' string.

Racing Secretary Benner plans another monkey-jockey event Tuesday night.

SERVICEMEN TRAVEL TO OPPOSE ANAHEIM

With the finish of his season right around the corner, Al's Auto Service, Santa Ana baseball team, travels to Anaheim tomorrow for another Orange County Summer league game. The contest is scheduled for 2:15 on the Anaheim high school grounds.

Anaheim, now under the management of "Rube" Hall, has one of the best clubs in the league—a six victory last Sabbath over Santa Anita inmate.

UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA, Aug. 5.—Less than seven weeks till the first football game of the season. How about some Winchelling to see what Southern California's boys are doing to get in shape?

What's this commotion in the corner of a movie set . . . It's the three musketeers of the Trojan squad, Homer Griffith, "Rosy" Rosenberg and Kenny Fay, ribbing each other as usual between doing bits in the flickers. . . . Before they landed these jobs they did a foxily bit of carpentering on a Wilshire boulevard restaurant . . .

And here's Bob Erskine on the movie lot too . . . But not an actor . . . Bob must be holding out that handsome phys for star parts—at present he's a "prop ruster" . . . When opponents see him in the fall they're going to think King Kong is loose again. . . . He's gone up from 215 pounds to a 223 this summer . . . "The Boy Giant," they call him on the campus . . . He won't be 21 until December . . . Remember when he weighed 170 as a 17-year-old freshman in 1930 . . . Played end then . . . Has since been a blocking back and a man-eating tackle . . .

Better drive slowly around Lake Tahoe . . . Fullback Tony Beard is a state speed cop there. . . . But don't hold that against him. . . . He's hauled out eight drownings and people in the last few years has a Carnegie medal for life saving . . . Also behave yourself at Catalina . . . Quarterback Gar checks is a cop there . . . He catches up every day to keep Lee Man Gordy Clark from weighing his hand with the ice and to see that Walter Cliff Probst, freshman fullback, keeps his thumbs out of the soup. . . . Gar's fraternity brothers, have already nicknamed him "Flatfoot" for the coming season. . . .

Hueston (Hippo) Harper, shot-putter and leading candidate for Ernie Smith's job at right tackle, is working for the city on the new planetarium on Griffith park's highest peak . . . Poor "Hip" Rodgers as 4-0 Schrott rf 1 0 0 . . . Speaking of the big boys, "Cotton" Warburton, who weighed 150 pounds in football last year and went down to 141 in running the 440 during track season, is up to 163 . . . The big cow . . . Two more pounds and Jones will have to turn his galloping flea into a fullback . . . "Cotton" is also in the movies. . . .

Halfback Kenneth ("Brick") Bright, the first and so far the only junior college transfer to make the first eleven, and Guard Larry Stevens are going to summer school. . . . Speaking of students, Tackle Dave Packard had the highest scholastic average in the university last semester. . . . Made 21 hours of "A" . . . And 16 hours is the normal course. . . .

EQUIPOISE CARRIES 142 POUNDS IN RACE

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 5.—(INS)—Equipoise, American handicapped champion, faces the test of his brilliant career in the Saratoga handicap today.

They have asked C. V. Whitney's celebrated equine to shoulder 142 pounds against such rivals as Dark Secret, which will have a pull of 19 pounds in the weights, and Gusto, which will have a concession of 23 pounds.

A victory for the five-year-old son of Pennant-Swinger will boost his earnings above $300,000 and eclipse the greatest weight-carrying feat of all time by an American thoroughbred over a route of a mile and a quarter.

Christensen Signs With Pro Gridmen

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 5.—(INS)—Frank Christensen, Utah university's all-American fullback, and Jack Johnson, stellar Utah tackle, will join the Portsmouth club of the National Professional football league this fall it was revealed today. They will leave here August 12, to play in the East-West game at the Chicago Century of Progress.

OLLERS REPEAT ANAHEIM. KEEP ONE-GAME LEAD

Santa Ana at Anaheim; Torrance at Whittier; Oliver at Huntington Beach; Fullerton at Westminster.

Huntington Beach today turned into the homestretch of the National Night league's second-half still clinging desperately to its one-game lead over Whittier and a two-game edge over Santa Ana and Anaheim. The Ollers will begin the last round of seven games next Tuesday definitely identified as the "team to beat" for the championship.

Playing heads-up ball, taking advantage of every break, fighting hard for every point, Huntington Beach got over one of the humps at Anaheim last night when it defeated the Valencians, 4 to 3, in a torrid engagement that ended in a mild riot.

The end came amid considerable confusion with Orv Schuchardt, the Ollers' crack outfielder, coming in behind second base to make a tumbling catch of Charley Zabab's hump-backed liner. Anaheim contended that Schuchardt "trapped" the ball but Umpire James Wilder hummed Zabab out and the decision stood although it stopped a budding rally. Police saw to it that none of the angry fans waylaid Wilder as he left the park.

Earlier in the evening, Wilder chased from the game Joe Rodgers, Huntington Beach manager, for violently protesting a decision at first base.

Huntington Beach won by getting the jump on the Valencians. The Ollers made two in the third after two were out when Osborn singled, second stepped and went to third on Murray's safe bunt. Osborn and Murray started to try a double steal and Osborn scored when Second Baseman McNabb made a wild throw to catch Osborn. Maness' single to left tallied Murray.

Anaheim tied it up in the third on infield hits by McNabb and Haezert, Zabab's out and Higgins' Texas league double over short.

Huntington Beach came back with another pair in the fifth. Osborn started it with another hit and Murray again bunted safely. Maness' double scored 'em both.

Anaheim never could catch up again, but got a run in the seventh on McNabb's double, Haezert's infield single and Zabab's hit.

1000 BARREL WELL FLOWING IN HUNTINGTON BEACH FIELD; 5 MORE PRODUCERS DUE SOON

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 5.—The Oscar Howard well on Twenty-second street between Walnut and Olive came in last night as a 1000-barrel producer after 30 hours of swabbing. It is doing a million feet of gas and is cleaning up nicely. It is on a par with most of its neighbors, although its nearest neighbor, the Maceroo well, with derrick posts almost touching the Howard well, is doing 4000 barrels.

The Petrol well, which has been swabbed for several days and flows intermittently, went on the compressor last night and looks good for 600 barrels.

Mostly the wells in this district are redrill wells that for years have been pumping from 25 to 75 barrels a day per well. There are now 15 wells completed in the field without a failure and the 15 wells are producing slightly over 21,000 barrels a day. The Standard Oil company's Harry Anderson well at Twenty-first and Walnut is still being worked on, but so far this well is the only one that looks like it might not produce.

There are five wells that may possibly be in within the coming week, the Sierra well on Nineteenth street, the Rood and McVickers, Cameron, on Twentieth street; the Bell Oil company on Ocean near Seventeenth. Wells being drilled are: Ernie Coombs, operating three; Al Burkett, three; Minnesota Oil company, Wallace and Shultz, Ed Smith and associates, Sierra Oil company, Richmond, Hamilton, W. K. Oil company, Wold and Kingsland, Tommy Johnson and associates, Standard Oil company, three; Wilshire, three. New wells are being spudded in daily and new leases being taken on drill sites bought.

The Sierra Oil company has purchased the Mrs. Gertrude Ward lots and derrick on Sixteenth street near Walnut avenue and will start a well there within a few days.

Postmaster W. I. Clapp, who is issuing the NRA emblems to Huntington Beach merchants, states that the city is going 100 per cent for the program.

BEACH COUNCIL SEEKING OPTION ON WATER LAND

SEAL BEACH, Aug. 4.—Steps toward the establishment of a municipal water system were taken by the Seal Beach city council Thursday night, when a committee was appointed to negotiate with the Hellman estate for an option on three acres of land. If the option is secured, application will be made immediately for federal funds.

The committee consists of the members of the water and finance committees and the city engineer, Vic Hayes.

Because petitions asking the city council to submit to the people at an election the question of having the county make assessments and collect taxes instead of the city, were declared by City Attorney Burr A. Brown to be faulty, no action was taken by the council.

The bid of Vernon Armstrong of the Seal Beach Post and Wave for city printing and publishing was opened by the council. The bid of nine cents per line for the first insertion and seven cents per line for following insertions was accepted and the contract awarded for the fiscal year.

The bid of D. W. Collier on the repairing of the ornamental lighting system on Main street from Ocean avenue to the Coast highway for the flat sum of $200 was presented to the council. Since there were no other bids the council awarded the job to Collier.

The reports of city officers for the month of July showed that the total collections of the water department were $703.16. Court fines from the 52 cases handled in the local court through Judge Fred J. Smith, including traffic and misdemeanor cases, totaled $618.50. Reports from the building department showed that six building permits were issued including one residence valued at $2000 and $1000 for remodeling and repairing buildings.

Street Superintendent C. L. Meacham submitted a report showing the cost per lot for cutting the weeds for confirmation of the council. The total cost was $629.16. Resolution No. 218 confirming the report was adopted.

By GLUYAS WILLIAMS

The assessment for each lot will now be entered on the tax roll. The council authorized the purchase of 360 feet of six-inch cast iron pipe to complete the present cast iron water system from Electric avenue to the Coast highway in the alley between Main street and Tenth street. The pipe will replace the old two-inch line which has rusted out. The old line has been a constant expense to the city on account of the frequent leaks and constant repairs and loss of water.

The matter of adequate drainage of the city waste water was referred to the sewer committee and City Engineer Hayes, who will confer with the Pacific Electric Railway company and the San Gabriel Flood Control district in respect to securing an easement for a pipe line and outlet through the flood control levee to permit the waste water to flow into the channel.

Chicken Dinner Set For Aug. 15

NEWPORT HEIGHTS, Aug. 5.—An old-fashioned chicken dinner will be served at the Community church Tuesday evening, August 15, by the Newport Heights circle of the Woman's Aid society. Everything from costumes to service will be old fashioned, it is announced by the committee in charge.

Those at the meeting were the league president, George Waterman, school auditor, Friday decided that this district is in need of a reassessment and equalization of the values placed on the various parcels of land within its borders. It was claimed that certain parcels of land of practically equal value were assessed in some instances over twice as high as others of the same value. It was decided that in past appraisals, in one instance a 10-acre parcel was listed as five acres.

Fred Finch, Robert Martin and W. W. Middleton were named as a committee to confer with the county assessor, with the aim of getting an equalization of assessed values here.

BOOK REVIEWS

By MARY BURKE KING

Life Was Worth Living, by W. Graham Robertson, published by Harper and Brothers.

Graham Robertson, painter, writer, illustrator was born in 1867, educated at Eton, studied painting under Albert Moore. He was a charming and fortunate man. And his charm and good fortune were closely linked that one could discover cause and effect. In his youth he was an intimate of Ellen Terry and Sarah Bernhardt, and Whistler and Burne-Jones and many other renowned folk. Time has rendered his reminiscences eminently discreet, else this gentleman would not be writing them, at his delightful humor gives zest to his genteel recollections. He writes a few pages about his ancestors. On his mother's side there is a gap in ancestors which he supplies in an original fashion by introducing two individuals with names similar to the family names on his mother's side and since they, for all he chooses to note, are unclaimed as ancestors he at once establishes his claims. Then there was his great granddaddy. A lady rather like the old lady in the alma books. The author tells a charming story about his granddaddy when she was a little girl and being taught domestic duties by her mother. She lost the keys in the Common. She couldn't find them and a nice old gentleman, Mr. Fothergill, recognized there was reason for her tears if she must confess to her austere mother, he evidently knew the lady. He stayed up half the night searching the common, with a lantern, for the keys, which were restored to the little lady who must have been very charming," says her grandson.

The book is altogether delightful and the author doesn't spoil a good story, as Arnold Bennett does, by saying that he doesn't believe a word of it. Bennett was so afraid that we would think him a bit glibbie.

Lost Lectures or The Fruits of Experience by Maurice Baring, published by Alfred A. Knopf. Maurice Baring, diplomat and foreign correspondent is said to have simplicity in writing. The best style, in his opinion is an absence of style, of ornament. He favors an effortless writing, simple and ordinary with matters set forth in the simplest possible way. He is particularly struck with his implicitly following Graham Robertson's book "Life Was Worth Living."

There is a curious link which at once establishes itself between Maurice Baring's book and Graham Robertson's book. Both men admit to a great dislike of school, and both men bring this out by their attitude toward the statement which each had heard many times that school days were the happiest days of life. Graham Robertson says that if he had believed it he would have been inclined to commit suicide, so unhappy was he at school. Maurice Baring says that parents don't mean to be hypocritical when they make this statement, they just don't remember. Furthermore boys in school have no standard of comparison and being told that school days are very happy days they often believe that they are.

He writes about Pushkin, whom the Russians claim to be equal to Goethe, Dante and Shakespeare; he tells about some diplomatic experiences and the famous "Battle of the Inkpots"; he reminds us that stimulants can be human beings; he has one lecture on the high-brows and the low-brows; and about Peter Sims. Peter Sims was a correspondent who lost one job after another because his interviews were too outspoken. Finally the only thing left for him to do was to interview the shades on the current of affairs.

One of the lectures is on "Punch and Judy" and he says in conclusion: I wish that the poets and the future would go back to Punch and Judy and to the puppet-show and learn of them. There is no place like a puppet-show, for Jonson's learned sock and Shakespeare's wood-notes wild; and there more easily than in the cinematograph, or on the vast Reinhardt circuses of Germany, Gorgeous Tragedy can come sweeping by."

Both Your Houses, by Maxwell Anderson, published by Samuel French.

Arnold Bennett records in his journal that he had been told that the American people don't like political plays, don't like to go to them or to read them. Then Bennett added the significant comment "I don't believe it." There have been several political plays the last year: "Face the Music," "Of Thee I Sing" and "Both Your Houses." The American public was most enthusiastic about the one, of the three, which was the shallowest and the greatest exaggeration of fact.

"Both Your Houses" is very little if any exaggerated over the actual circumstances that exist in Washington and every state legislature. The theme is similar to that of the "Lions Den," a novel which appeared several years ago. In "Both Your Houses" it has been much more clearly and honestly presented however. In the opening scenes one is admitted to the trading attendant upon the passage of a certain bill which would provide immense appropriations for various projects, many of them not remotely connected. The President and the chairman of the committee which has the bill in charge are determined that it must be scaled down. There comes into the situation Alan McLean. He was a teacher in an agricultural college in Nevada. He "kicked up a row" over the misappropriation of endowment funds and got himself fired. His father made an issue of it in his paper—and the upshot was, elected to Congress. Alan McLean is straight. So straight that he had his own election investigated. Alan McLean wasn't a glibbie victim of illusions when he got to Washington. However he had not expected to find things quite as he did find them with the odds so heavy against him and so few people who shared his principles. He lost in the minor battle which forms the plot and suspense of the play but at the end two opposite speeches are made which leave on thinking. Alan is costumed that there are a hundred million people with him and if it were not for that belief he would feel pitiful. On the other hand a bit of ironic figure is the play assures his associates that the furore would blow over. "As a matter of fact," he says, "the natural resources of this country in political apathy and indifference have hardly been touched."

When politicians assure us that the play is not exaggerated, as they do, we had all better realize the situation which is presented in this play, and the play is an aid to that realization.

PARTY POSTPONED

MARY PICKFORD IN "SECRETS" AT WEST COAST

Surrounded by one of the largest casts in her long career, Mary Pickford is seen, starting today, at the Fox West Coast theater in "Secrets," her latest production. It has been a long time since "America's Sweetheart" has appeared on a local screen and the response is expected to be exceptionally large.

Leslie Howard plays opposite the star and other well known players in the production are: C. Aubrey Smith, Blanche, Frederick, Doris Lloyd, Ned Sparks, Allen Sears. There are some 15 others.

Love and elemental emotions mark the picture throughout and the absence of wisecracks will be noted immediately. "Secrets," in other words, is a simple love story in which the star seems more lovely than ever.

The short subjects on the same program also are exceptional. They include: A Merry Melody cartoon, "The Organ Grinder," an "Our Gang" comedy, "The Kid from Barcelona" and a news reel.

Eddie Lowe, Gibson Seen In New Play

"Her Bodyguard," new dynamic comedy which stars Edmund Lowe and Wynne Gibson, come to the Fox West Coast theater Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, it was announced today.

Johnny Hines, Marjorie White, Alan Dinehart and Edward Arnold have other leading roles in the production. It is a story of a man who gets a job as bodyguard for a beautiful girl. After working for a while he decides he wouldn't change places with the president and although he was kept busy 24 hours of the day, he would never take a night off.

And Little Christ as like a rose As any rose you'd see.

Himself is high upon a throne, but Himself sits a-rocking
In a low rocking-chair, her babe upon her knee.
Sure now he'd go to sleep at once, and Himself a-crooning,
And not lie with eyes wide. The way you'd treat me.

Now fasten down your eyelids and get you gone a-sleeping,
And in a little heart beat in heaven you'll be,
And when you've bowed to Himself, and made Himself a courtesy,
And kissed the Little Rose o' Heaven,
Come back along to me.

"VOLTAIRE" AT BROADWAY WITH GEORGE ARLISS

George Arliss, dean of American actors, returns to the new wide screen at the Broadway theater tomorrow in his latest, and probably greatest production, "Voltaire." The picture has been heralded as one of the outstanding screen achievements of the year and Arliss is said to even eclipse his own acting in "Disraeli."

Much like "Disraeli" the plot is based on one incident in the life of a great man. Voltaire, known as the father of the French revolution, was probably one of the greatest of historical characters and Arliss, for years, has been building a plot around this startling figure, until the picture "Voltaire" should prove one of the most interesting in the past several years.

Margaret Lindsey and Doris Kenyon have the leading feminine roles in the production.

The remainder of the program includes a Silly Symphony, a Technicolor cartoon, "Old King Cole," a Pete Smith sport "Bone Crushers," referring to wrestling, an M. G. M. musical and a News reel.

OIL INDUSTRY WAR PICTURE ENDS TODAY

In "State Trooper," which opened last night at Walker's State theater, motion pictures reached out past the traditional settings and plots, and succeeded in presenting a smashing story against a new, unique and tremendously colorful background—that of an oil refinery at the height of operation.

The story revolves around the activities of a young motorcycle officer who accepts a job in an oil refinery as guard during a relentless price-cutting war engaged in by two powerful companies.

As the motorcycle officer, Regis Toomey is shown in one of the finest roles this popular leading man has had in months while beautiful Evalyn Knapp provides the other half of the romance in a splendid portrayal as the girl.

AL JOLSON PICTURE DUE ON THURSDAY

An unusually good cast is seen in "Hallelujah, I'm a Bum," starring Al Jolson, which comes to the Fox West Coast theater next Thursday for a two day engagement.

Madge Evans has the leading feminine role, Frank Morgan, Harry Langdon, Chester Conklin, and Bert Roach are all in the picture. The picture is 90 per cent musical, and Jolson sings most of the songs. The story is laid in New York, near Central Park and Jolson plays his role minus the blackface.

GINGER ROGERS AT BROADWAY TONIGHT

"Professional Sweetheart," starring Ginger Rogers and very nearly all the other leading comedians of the screen, ends its Santa Ana showing tonight. The picture is at the Broadway theater. The plot concerns a great radio star, who has been played up as a purity girl, but who secretly longs to see the sights of New York. It is straight comedy throughout and highly entertaining.

NEW MONTGOMERY FILM WILL SHOW HERE THURSDAY

Santa Ana women folk get another wish this week, for Robert Montgomery returns in his latest picture. The new hit is "Made on Broadway," in which the star is seen opposite Sally Eilers. It is the first time they have played together. The Broadway theater will show the film Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

A Bobby Jones golf picture "The Swing" and a picture on Soviet Russia are on the same bill.

In "Made on Broadway," Montgomery has the role of a man-about-town who is actually the power behind the city government. Madge Evans, Eugene Pallette and David Newhall have other leading roles.

LOVE STORY IN HEPBURN FILM BUDAPEST ZOO TO BE SEEN IN COMING SUNDAY S. A. NEXT WEEK

Opening Sunday at Walker's State theater and scheduled for an engagement of three days, comes "Zoo in Budapest." It has Loretta Young and Gene Raymond in what are reported as the outstanding roles in the brilliant careers of these two young screen stars.

The story of "Zoo in Budapest" is reported as one of novel proportions. As its background it has a Continental zoological park, where animals are kept in as nearly a natural state as possible. With this atmosphere established, the plot reveals a romance between a young man who has always identified the park as his home, and a girl who visits the park as one of a group of students from a state orphanage. The love is an ingenuous one, taking its tone from the examples of rugged nature around them.

The cast in support of Miss Young and Gene Raymond, is headed by O. P. Heggie in the role of a sympathetic doctor. Others in the cast are Wally Albright, Paul Fix, Murray Kinnell, Ruth Warren, Roy Stewart, Frances Rich, Niles Welch, Lucille Ward, Russ Powell and Dorothy Labaree.

A combination of freckles, sex appeal, showmanship and diffidence should be an incongruity, but in Katharine Hepburn, it is not. The glamorous, vivacious featured player in "Christopher Strong," coming Wednesday and Thursday to Walker's State theater, with Colin Clive, Billie Burke, Helen Chandler and Ralph Forbes in support, thrives on contacts. Katharine Hepburn's appeal is courage, without which she could not have wrapped an armor of bravado around her when she was a child, and worn it gallantly as she swagged through adolescence, shedding shyness for poise and grace.

While other children grew up gracefully, without attracting undue attention, Katharine, because she was sensitive and shy, forced herself into a spotlight. It was an instinct for self-preservation which led her to demand attention even though she dreaded it, and got it in her success. Her quick and dazzling stage career is well known. And now, in "Christopher Strong" Katharine Hepburn plays her second screen role, and has already the leading feature part.

BOOK REVIEWS

By MARY BURKE KING

Life Was Worth Living, by W. Graham Robertson, published by Harper and Brothers. Graham Robertson, painter, writer, illustrator was born in 1867, educated at Eton, studied painting under Albert Moore. He was a charming and fortunate man. And his charm and good fortune were so closely linked that one can't discover cause and effect. In his youth he was an intimate of Ellen Terry and Sarah Bernhardt, and "Whistler" and Burne-Jones and many other renowned folk. Time has rendered his reminiscences eminently discreet, else this gentleman would not be writing them, but his delightful humor gives zest to his gentle recollections. He writes a few pages about his ancestors. On his mother's side there is a gap in ancestors which he supplies in an original fashion by introducing two individuals with names similar to the family names on his mother's side and since they, for all he chooses to note, are unclaimed as ancestors he at once establishes his claims. Then there was his great grandmama. A lady rather like the old lady in the alma books. The author tells a charming story about his grandmama when she was a little girl and being taught domestic duties by her mother. She lost the keys in the Common. She couldn't find them and a nice old gentleman, Mr. Overidge, recognized them as reason for her tears if she must confess to her austere mother, he evidently knew the lady. He stayed a half the night searching for the keys, which were restored to the little lady who must have been very charming," says her grandson.

The book is altogether delightful and the author doesn't spoil a good story, as Arnold Bennett does, by saying that he doesn't believe a word of it. Bennett was so afraid that we would think him a bit glibbie.

Lost Lectures or The Fruits of Experience, by Maurice Baring, published by Alfred A. Knopf. Maurice Baring, diplomat and foreign correspondent is said to have simplicity in writing. The best style, in his opinion is an absence of style, of ornament. He favors an effortless writing, simple and ordinary with matters set forth in the simplest possible way. He is particularly struck with his implicitly following Graham Robertson's book "Life Was Worth Living."

There is a curious link which at once establishes itself between Maurice Baring's book and Graham Robertson's book. Both men admit to a great dislike of school. And both men bring this out by their attitude toward the statement which each had heard many times that school days were the happiest days of life. Graham Robertson says that if he had believed it he would have been inclined to commit suicide, so unhappy was he at school. Maurice Baring says that parents don't mean to be hypocritical when they make this statement, they just don't remember. Furthermore boys in school have no standard of comparison and being told that school days are very happy days they often believe that they are.

He writes about Pushkin, whom the Russians claim to be equal to Goethe, Dante and Shakespeare; he tells about some diplomatic experiences and the famous "Battle of the Inkpots"; he reminds us that stimulants can be human beings; he has one lecture on the high-brows and the low-brows; and about Peter Sims, Peter Sims was a correspondent who lost one job after another because his interviews were too outspoken. Finally the only thing left for him to do was to interview the shades on the current of affairs.

One of the lectures is on "Punch and Judy" and he says in conclusion: I wish that the poets and the future would go back to Punch.

MARY PICKFORD "VOLTAIRE" AT IN "SECRETS" BROADWAY WITH AT WEST COAST GEORGE ARLISS

Surrounded by one of the largest casts in her long career, Mary Pickford is seen, starting today, at the Fox West Coast theater in "Secrets," her latest production. It has been a long time since "America's Sweetheart" has appeared on a local screen and the response is expected to be exceptionally large.

Leslie Howard plays opposite the star and other well known players in the production are: C. Aubrey Smith, Blanche, Fred, Doris, Ned Sparks and Allen Sears. There are some 15 others.

Love and elemental emotions mark the picture throughout and the absence of wisecracks will be noted immediately. "Secrets," in other words, is a simple love story in which the star seems more lovely than ever.

The short subjects on the same program also are exceptional. They include: A Merry Melody cartoon, "The Organ Grinder," an "Our Gang" comedy, "The Kid from Barcelona" and a news reel.

"Her Bodyguard," new dynamic comedy which stars Edmund Lowe and Wynne Gibson, comes to the Fox West Coast theater Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, it was announced today.

Johnny Hines, Marjorie White, Alan Dinehart and Edward Arnold have other leading roles in the production. It is a story of a man who gets a job as bodyguard for a beautiful girl. After working for quite a while he wouldn't change places with the president and although he was kept busy 24 hours of the day, he would never take a night off.

SANTA ANA, CALIFORNIA SATURDAY, AUGUST 5, 1933

Young People Reveal
Quiet Wedding in Arizona

Announcement of the marriage in Yuma, Ariz. on Sunday, July 23 of Herbert G. Hagthorp, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hagthorp, 515 Lime street, and Miss Jeanette Morse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Duarte of Costa Mesa, came as a pleasant surprise to the many friends of the young people in this community, although members of the family were aware of their plans.

The ceremony was a quiet one in the Arizona Gretna Green, and Mr. Hagthorp and his bride returned to Santa Ana early in the following week for a few days' visit before going to Los Angeles where they are now pleasantly established. Mr. Hagthorp is with the Collier Motor Sales in that city. He is a graduate of Santa Ana High school and had a year at the junior college before entering the business world. His attractive young bride was a member of this year's graduating class from Newport Harbor Union High school. Theirs was the third marriage in the Hagthorp family to occur within just a little over a year's time, and hence of double interest. Robert Hagthorp and Miss Marguerite Hallum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Warner of Cypress avenue, were married in Glendale on February 24 of this year, while the sister of the two young men, Miss Julietta Hagthorp, became the bride of Ted Faulkner, corporate manager of the Holly Sugar corporation, in June, 1932.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hagthorp live at Belmont Shore, Long Beach, and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Faulkner took possession of their own home on Orange avenue just a few weeks ago.

State Club Federation
Convention Will Be
May 9 to 12

Although Riverside was officially chosen in June as hostess city for the 1934 convention of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, the date for the annual event was not selected until the recent conference of state, district and city leaders with Miss Josephine G. Sennar of La Jolla, president of the state federation. The dates of May 9, 10, 11 and 12 were determined upon, according to Mrs. R. D. Jones, press chairman of the Southern District federation.

Since the five counties comprising the Southern District federation, with Mrs. B. F. Warner of Ontario as president, will comprise the hostess group, Orange county clubwomen may anticipate a busy and interesting winter of preparation for entertaining clubwomen from all sections of the state. These five hostess counties will be Orange, Imperial, San Bernardino and San Diego in addition to Riverside county.

Glenwood Mission in will be convention headquarters while program meetings will be held in the Municipal auditorium. Mrs. Warner as general chairman, will have the assistance of Mrs. John Stewart of Hemet, president of Riverside county federation, as her vice president, with Mrs. LaMonte A. Simms and Mrs. Denzil Coldren, both of Riverside, to complete her entertainment committee.

Club Participates in Luncheon and Program

Always anticipated as delightful events are the meetings which members of the 25 Year Service club of W. R. C. hold as guests of Mrs. Martha Ritchey, East MaFadden street, and this week's affair, held Thursday, proved more enjoyable than ever.

Assisting Mrs. Ritchey in hostess duties were her daughter, Miss Martha Ritchey, and Mrs. Otto Pense, Mrs. Hattie Harby and Miss Tubach.

One of the first features of the day was a delicious covered-dish luncheon served under the large mulberry tree in the gardens of the home. Refreshing breezes made this spot an ideal setting for the noon-day repast.

The group adjourned to the spacious rooms indoors for a business session. Here sinias and other colorful flowers were used in decorating. Fifteen members answered to roll call with favorite quotations. Mrs. Elizabeth McLeod responded to requests of the group by singing German songs.

During a social hour, Mrs. Henry Diers told of her recent visit to Chicago and the World's Fair. Interesting stories of the early days in Santa Ana were told by Mrs. Ritchey, Mrs. Emma Mosbaugh and Mrs. Jennie Spurgeon.

The next meeting of the club will be held Thursday, September 7 with Mrs. Joanna Cole, 711 North Main street.

Special guests Thursday were Mrs. Jennie Spurgeon and Mrs. Elizabeth Birkhead. Members sharing Mrs. Ritchey's hospitality were Mesdames Emma Mosbaugh, Sarah Alford, Helen Aubin, Joanna Cole, Margaret Culver, Fannie Cunningham, Henry Diers, Eugene Harvey, Alice Kryhl, Elizabeth McLeod, Dora Spangler, Ella Wilson, Alice Yount and Hannah Huntington.

Honor Guests' Sisters
Are Hostesses at Party

Miss Kristine Nielsen and Gilmer Laub shared honors at a birthday party given this week when sisters of the two, Miss Karla Nielsen and Miss Nell Laub, joined as hostesses in the latter's home, 114 Owens drive.

Bunco and dancing interested the young people during the early hours. Prizes for the games were won by Miss Corinne Hamilton and Gordon Almas, who scored high, and Miss Agnes Brady and Edward Wickereheim, low.

Later in the evening, guests were seated at a large table brightened with pink asters, nut cups and other appointments in pastel tints. The menu served included a large birthday cake bearing the names of the two honor guests, Kristine and Gilmer.

Those present were Miss Kristine Nielsen and Gilmer Laub, the birthday celebrants, and the Mesdames Agnes Brady, Bonni Hamilton, Corinne Hamilton, Adele Pyatt, Ruth Williams, Karla Nielsen and Nell Laub. Mesdames Edward Wickereheim, Jerry Crawford, Carl Alanson, Gordon Almas, Harold Willis, Ray Dammel and Nelson Rogers.

Youths Conclude Five Day Vacation in Mountains

Boys of Santa Ana Chapter of Young Foresters of America have concluded a five-day vacation stay as guests in the John Osterman cabin near the Peter Pan Woodland club, located between Baldwin and Big Bear lakes. Mr. Osterman is leader of the group.

Hours during the day were spent in fishing, boating, swimming, hiking and horseback riding. Evenings were passed at the clubhouse of the Peter Pan Woodland club, of which the Osterman family are founder members.

Boys making the trip were John Howell, Donald Stevens, Monte Bauer, Billy Wilson, Bernell Ausmus, Alvin Edwards, Harry Reed, Paul Knaak and Donald Knaak.

Chicago as the Exposition City, has been the lodestar for untold thousands of Californians this summer, but it was far more than the Exposition City for Mr. and Mrs. Guy J. Gilbert of Santa Ana, for it was their honeymoon city. Mrs. Gilbert was the former Edith Munger Ritter, sister of a well-known California family prominent in pioneer days of the state.

Her success as a teacher has had special exemplification in her work with the Mexican children of Fremont school in this city. Mr. Gilbert is widely known in insurance and club circles and is district manager of the Lincoln Life Insurance company. Their marriage took place in Vincennes, Ind., on Friday, July 14 and they will make their home in this city after an extended automobile trip through the middle west and the eastern states and a return to California.

MRS. JAMES W. LEWIS

St. Mary's Episcopal church, Laguna Beach, was the scene of the wedding on July 15, at which Miss Veda M. Eaton of Wintersburg, became the bride of James W. Lewis, prominent young banker of St. Louis. Mrs. Lewis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A.

MRS. LEONARD NATLAND

It was on Saturday, July 15, in Calvary Baptist church, Whittier, that Miss Margaret Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Gardner of Bole, was wedded to Leonard Natland, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Natland of Garden Grove. The young people went directly from the church to the home awaiting them at 744 Comstock avenue, Whittier, where wedding guests assembled to offer felicitations, and where they are now established. Both young people attended Santa Ana Junior college after graduating from Garden Grove Union high school. Mr. Natland is with El Rancho Citrus association at Riverside.

Young People Reveal
Quiet Wedding in Arizona

Announcement of the marriage in Yuma, Ariz., on Sunday, July 23 of Herbert G. Hagthorp, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hagthorp, 515 Lima street, and Miss Jeanette Morse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Duarte of Costa Mesa, came as a pleasant surprise to the many friends of the young people in this community, although members of the family were aware of their plans.

The ceremony was a quiet one in the Arizona Gretna Green, and Mr. Hagthorp and his bride returned to Santa Ana early in the following week for a few days' visit before going to Los Angeles where they are now pleasantly established. Mr. Hagthorp is with the Collier Motor Sales in that city. He is a graduate of Santa Ana High school and had a year at the junior college before entering the business world.

His attractive young bride was a member of this year's graduating class from Newport Harbor Union High school. There was the third marriage in the Hagthorp family to occur within just a little over a year's time, and hence of double interest. Robert Hagthorp and Miss Marguerite Hallum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Warner of Cypress avenue, were married in Glendale on February 24 of this year, while the sister of the two young men, Miss Julietta Hagthorp, became the bride of Ted Faulkner, foreman of the Holly Sugar corporation, in June, 1932.

State Club Federation
Convention Will Be
May 9 to 12

Although Riverside was officially chosen in June as hostess city for the 1934 convention of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, the date for the annual event was not selected until the recent conference of state, district and city leaders with Miss Josephine G. Sennan of La Jolla, president of the state federation. The dates of May 9, 10, 11 and 12 were determined upon, according to Mrs. R. D. Jones, press chairman of the Southern District federation.

Since the five counties comprising the Southern District federation, with Mrs. B. F. Warner of Ontario as president, will comprise the hostess group, Orange county clubwomen may anticipate a busy and interesting winter of preparation for entertaining clubwomen from all sections of the state. These five hostess counties will be Orange, Imperial, San Bernardino and San Diego in addition to Riverside county. Glenwood Mission in will be convention headquarters while program meetings will be held in the Municipal auditorium. Mrs. Warner as general chairman, will have the assistance of Mrs. John Stewart of Hemet, president of Riverside County federation, as her vice president, with Mrs. LaMonte A. Simms and Mrs. Denzil Coldren, both of Riverside, to complete her entertainment committee.

One of the first features of the day was a delicious covered-dish luncheon served under the large mulberry tree in the gardens of the home. Refreshing breezes made this spot an ideal setting for the noon-day repast.

The group adjourned to the spacious rooms indoors for a business session. Here zinnias and other colorful flowers were used in decorating. Fifteen members answered to roll call with favorite quotations. Mrs. Elizabeth McLeod responded to requests of the group by singing German songs.

During a social hour, Mrs. Henry Diers told of her recent visit to Chicago and the World's Fair. Interesting stories of the early days in Santa Ana were told by Mrs. Ritchey, Mrs. Emma Mosbaugh and Mrs. Jennie Spurgeon.

Dahlias, shading from pale violet to royal purple, made a lovely accent of color in decorations of the home and were especially pretty in their arrangement for the luncheon tables, where place cards were in harmony and later served to record scores made at bridge. Covers were placed for Mrs. Robert West, Mrs. George Horton, Mrs. Marjorie Hammond, Mrs. Harold Burrier and Mrs. Underwood of Santa Ana; Mrs. Viola Underwood of Trabuco canyon, Mrs. Joe Irwin of Irvine park, the hostess, Mrs. Irwin and her niece, Miss Phyllis Arbogast of Hollywood.

Miss Arbogast assisted in serving and in the various hostess duties of the afternoon. High score in bridge was made by Mrs. Horton who was awarded first prize while an equally pretty gift carried its own consolation to Mrs. Viola Underwood for low scoring in the game.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM
Dinner
Chilled Melon Salad
Mayonnaise or French dressing
2 pats pan-broiled hamburger
1 large tomato, pan-broiled
Steamed summer squash
Clear tea, no sugar
1 tsp. butter for squash
Calory total, 500.

The appearance of food, particularly a salad, is more than half of its success. For this particular salad use cantaloupe and watermelon. If you have one of those little ball scoops, use it to make tiny balls of both melons, if not, just scoop out the cantaloupe and dice it, watermelon likewise, drain the melon cups and use them for the salad, heaping the chilled melon balls therein, perhaps on a bed of crisp shredded lettuce, adding dressing just before serving. Pan-broiled hamburger, poiss—on toast for the family, with browned, buttered summer squash, cooked in a steamer, and new potatoes in parsley butter, hot rolls, and some favorite dessert, complete the meal for the family.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Pineapple Cookies
2-3 cup butter or substitute
1-2 cups white sugar
4 eggs
4 tbsps. pineapple juice
1 tsp. lemon extract
1-4 tsp. salt
3 cups sifted flour
1-2 tsp. soda
Diced pineapple for cookie tops.
Cream the butter and sugar very thoroughly, add the eggs, salt and lemon extract and whip well, then add the pineapple juice and soda, dissolved in the juice. Work in the flour, the dough must be firm enough to roll if necessary, so be sure and get in all of the flour.

Oil some baking sheets, pre-heat the oven to 350 degrees, then reduce to 275 degrees. Push small teaspoonful of dough onto the baking sheet, in the center of each mound put a little section of pineapple and press it in to slightly flatten. Bake the cookies about 12 minutes.

The recipe makes about 4 dozen cookies, each with a calory value of 50.

Some reader has written for a cookie recipe published some time ago, called Orange Drop Cookies. I regret that I am unable to find this recipe but I can't see why this same recipe can't be changed to fit the lost one.

Follow the recipe exactly as given, but substitute 4 tbsps. of orange juice for pineapple, flavor with grated orange peel as well as the lemon extract, and in the center of each cookie press a bit of walnut or half of an almond.

A Happy Mistake
These cookies are soft and very delicate. I had given the recipe to a friend, she misplaced it and telephoned my house when I was out. Son-and-his found what he thought was the recipe, (this one) but he thought that 1-2 tsp. of soda was wrong so he omitted it and told the lady to use 4 level tps. of baking powder. She did, and the cookies were crisp and of an entirely different texture. Take your choice, both are good.

Au revoir until Monday.
ANN MEREDITH.

LOCAL CHAPTER OF RED CROSS OPENS DISPLAY

ANAHEIM, Aug. 5.—Carrying out the National Red Cross production program for 1933 the local chapter is now displaying a window, at 153 West Center street, of articles soon to be sent to the Disabled War Veterans' hospital in the Philippine Islands and other articles given out locally for relief distribution. The announcement was made today by Mrs. Henry Adams, production chairman.

All materials were furnished by the local chapter. A number of organizations contributed to the work by sewing, Mrs. Adams reported. Those aiding were the American Legion Auxiliary, bed jackets; the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Michael's Episcopal church, Christmas bags; Willing Workers, laundry bags; Mrs. Thomas H. Lumsdon, bed socks, and the P. E. O. chapter.

The display window includes seven bed jackets, 10 Christmas bags, 12 laundry bags, six pairs of bed socks, eight girls' dresses, six undergarments and 12 chair cushions.

In the box to the Philippines, which will be sent next week, will be chair cushions, bed jackets, socks and Christmas bags, each of the latter to include a deck of playing cards, stationery, pencils, tooth paste and a tooth brush.

Mrs. Adams also announced that the Red Cross is receiving its fall shipment of cotton prints, men's and boys' trousers, shirts, blankets, comforters, women's hosiery, men's socks, underwear and other ready-to-wear garments.

The Red Cross room in the city hall will be opened the latter part of this month, and the articles will be distributed to those having requisitions.

DR. WARNER SPEAKS TO ANAHEIM LIONS

ANAHEIM, Aug. 5.—Developing of the nation since 1492, and influences on Christianity and science during this time, was shown yesterday when the Rev. George Warner, First Methodist church minister of Santa Ana, addressed the Lions' club who were honoring nine past presidents at a luncheon in the Elk's clubhouse. The subject of his address was "The Background of American Moods."

Rev. Warner said that he believed that science was the way in which the world would be lifted out of its present difficulties.

On August 24 members and their families will hold a picnic at Balboa, leaving here at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

ANAHEIM, Aug. 5.—Indignant protest was made late yesterday afternoon by George W. Reid, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce as he accused other Orange county cities of not holding to their agreements of closing on Saturday nights as a means of working out the NRA plan.

Thursday noon the merchants association voted to close in accord with other cities of the county, and on a check made late yesterday many of the leading merchants indicate that they will hold to their agreement.

A merchants' conclave will be held early in the week to determine what the future course of action will be.

Secretary Reid issued the following statement to the press: "Merchants have agreed to stand by their recently adopted resolution in so far as it is possible considering that our neighboring towns are not following the plan agreed upon formerly."

MINUTE STORIES from the BIBLE

The FINDING of MOSES

IN the years that followed the death of Joseph and his brothers in Egypt, the Israelites grew so great in number that Pharaoh and his people began to fear that they would become too powerful. Their treatment of the exiled people grew ever more cruel, and Pharaoh finally issued the edict that every son born to a Hebrew was to be thrown into the Nile.

At about this time, a distracted Hebrew mother who had borne a beautiful boy-child and could not bear to see him drowned, placed him in a basket made of bulrushes, and daubed it with pitch, and set it afloat among the reeds of the river Nile.

The daughter of Pharaoh came down to bathe in the Nile, and while her handmaidens were walking along the river bank, she discovered the child in its basket crying bitterly. Believing the foundling to be a Hebrew child, Pharaoh's daughter felt her heart go out to him and had him placed in the care of a nurse. And when he became old enough, she had him brought to her and adopted him as her son, calling him Moses, for she said:

"I drew him out of the water."

It was this foundling, who in the years to come was to lead the Children of Israel out of the land of bondage and into Canaan, the land of promise.

This story of Moses is from the Old Testament, Exodus—Chapter II

"We still have crackers. Quite a few," said Goldy. "Tell you what let's do. We'll close the lid and hide the box inside the old sea chest."

"Then, when we're hungry as can be, we'll get it out quite easily. Right now I think 'twould be real smart if we'd all take a rest."

"Oh, let's not be so stingy, son. I think it would be lots of fun to feed some fish," said Shrimpy. "They are real good friends of mine."

"Just see how they've been hanging 'round. They're sure that nice food will be found, 'cause they have seen us eating," Scouty then said. "Say, that's fine."

Woe Dotty took a cracker and a fish ate right out of her hand.

Another Tiny shouted, "Goodness me, how they can stuff!"

The whole bunch fed them for a while and then kind Shrimpy, with a smile, said, "Now, let's put the box away. The fish have had enough."

Just as the box was put inside the chest, wee Scouty loudly cried, "Hey, lads, there's something else in here. Why, it's a bag of gold!"

"We missed it when we looked before. 'Tis well I chanced to look some more. I'll bet that it was left here by a pirate, brave and bold."

A fishhook drifted near the bunch and Copy cried, "I have a hunch. We do not want this money. Come, let's put it on that hook."

"Some fishermen will realize that he has caught a big surprise. We don't know who is fishing, but I'll swim right up and look."

Oh Shrimpy smiled and cried, "Well, say, I like to hear you say that way. I think what you've suggested is a real fine thing to do."

"You'll bring somebody happiness unless, of course, I miss my guess. And, when you make folk happy, lad, it makes you happy, too!"

RADIO FEATURES

Hans Kindler, former first cellist of the Philadelphia Orchestra and at present director of the National Symphony of Washington, D. C., will return to his associates as guest conductor during the broadcast at 4:30 this afternoon over a nationwide Columbia network including KHL. The concert by the Philadelphia Summer Concerts Orchestra will be heard direct from Robin Hood Dell in Philadelphia's historic Fairmount Park. Kindler has selected a program of French, Finnish and Russian compositions.

Reports on reforestation work in the northwest will be sent by radio to President Roosevelt by the Governors of Oregon, Washington and Idaho in a broadcast at 7:15 tonight from above the timber line on the peak of 11,000-foot Mount Hood. Listeners also will hear the sounds of pitching camp at Cloud Cap and a short talk by an Indian chief. KFI will release the program.

Schubert's immortal "Unfinished" symphony will be the highlight of a widely varied and attractively balanced program to be presented by Howard Barlow during the symphonic hour, 11:15 to 12 noon, Sunday over KHL. Mozart's "Magic Flute" opens the broadcast, followed by the Schubert number and the beautiful "Waldsee" (Forest Murmurs). Two tone poems somewhat similar in effect, follow: "Parsifal" by Wagner and "The Sorcerer's Apprentice" by D. Busch.

Swiss Day at the Century of Progress in Chicago will be marked by a special broadcast over an NBC network including KREG and KFSD at 12:30 p. m. Sunday. The musical program will be supplied by the Swiss Male Choir and the Swiss Singing Society under the direction of Joseph Moos. Typical Alpine music will be played by Jenner's Orchestra.

Dr. William H. Foukles will be heard in the opening broadcast of the fifth annual season of "The Friendly Hour" at 1 p. m. Sunday over an NBC network including KREG and KFSD. Secretary of the Treasury William H. Woodin's seldom heard compositions for piano and orchestra, "Norwegian Rhapsody," will be broadcast in the program of the Polikoff Novelty Ensemble over an NBC network including KREG and KFSD at 2:30 p. m. Sunday. This interpretative idyll by the statesman opens with a depiction of the cold grandeur of the northern country, and continues with a melody of the Vikings. The rhapsody will be followed by another Woodin number, "Lullaby," played as a violin solo by Max Polikoff, young protegee of Leopold Auer. A "Chamber Symphony" by Haydn, published only a year ago, and a movement of a Bach concerto for two violins will complete the program.

A novel dramatization of "Standing in the Need of Prayer," old time revival meeting hymn, will be given by members of the Eva Jesse choir during the "Thoughts at Sunset" program on Sunday at 1:30 p. m. over an NBC network including KFI. A number of spirituals, including "Do Lord, Write My Name" and "Plenty Good Room" will be heard.

"Natchez on the Hill," the tone poem by the distinguished American composer-planist, John Powell, will be featured by the Philadelphia Summer Concerts Orchestra, under the direction of Hans Kindler, during the broadcast of the concert direct from Philadelphia's Robin Hood Dell, 4:30 to 5:30 p. m. Sunday. The program includes works of the late 19th Century and contemporary compositions. The first half consists of Wagner's Prelude to Act I of "Die Meistersinger," Tchaikovsky's Suite "Casse Noisette," Handel's "Largo" and Halvorsen's "Entrance of the Boys."

During the concert, the Columbia Male Chorus will be heard in a brief recital from the CBS New York studios; and the concluding half of the Dell Program will include the Powell number, Brahms' Hungarian Dances Nos. 5 and 6, and Saint-Saens' "Bacchante" from "Samson and Delilah."

Tamara, dark-eyed Russian singer who captivated Broadway from the musical comedy stage, will inaugurate her first extended radio engagement when she faces the microphone as a new feature of the Manhattan Merry-Go-Round over an NBC network including KFI at 5 p. m. Sunday. The Russian girl, who sings with a deep soulful tone to her own accompaniment on the guitar, will be heard on the Manhattan Merry-Go-Round series each week thereafter, and will share time with David Percy, baritone; the Men About Town, trio, and Gene Rodevich's orchestra.

With Andre Koestelnetz conducting the orchestra, the half-hour radio revue, "Rhythm Rhapsody," will be presented over the Columbia network including KHL at 3:30 p. m. Monday, with its brilliant roster of talent including Mildred Bailey, blues singer; the De R Mi trio; the Elton Boys quartet; and the veteran Broadway comic, Jack White.

Two experts on Soviet Russia will discuss that nation's experiment in economy and government in an interview with Thomas L. Stix on the America's Grub Street Speaks program over the Columbia network from 1:45 to 2 p. m. Monday over KGB and KSL. The interviewers are Margaret and Corlis Lamont, authors of "A Russian Diary." CURBING STOCK MARKET GAMBLING

Effective yesterday the New York Stock exchange adopted a new set of rules that are calculated to restrict the small stock market operator, or shall we say gambler.

The new rules require a minimum margin of 50 per cent for small operators, while the operator who has more than five thousand dollars invested in the market is permitted to operate on a margin of thirty per cent. The small fry cannot borrow more than fifty per cent of the value of their stock while the larger speculator will be permitted to borrow a total of seventy per cent.

The rule heretofore has been that the brokerage firm was its own judge as to what was adequate security. Ever since the bank holidays, stenographers and the former rich have been taking their small savings and putting it in the stock market in the hope that by a successful gamble they might win a fortune. The result was that stock certificates increased in value faster than the actual business conditions would warrant and when the collapse in stock market values occurred last month the decline in stock market values was greater in proportion than it had been in 1929. Once again the lambs had gone to market and had been shorn of their fleece.

While this change in the rules of the New York Stock market operation is in the right direction, the real "cure" of the market is that it permits the operation of "pools." A legitimate pool has as its object the raising or lowering of the market value of a stock in keeping with the true value of the stock; but the average "pool" is organized to fleece the "sucker." Occasionally it happens that the small "operator" outguesses the pool operators; in fact a few of them have become so successful that they become disciples of the doctrine that the only stock to buy is that in which there is a lot of activity. And the stock in which there is a lot of activity invariably is one in which a pool is very active. The proud boast of one of our big industrialists is that he made millions of five hundred associates. This was not done by paying big salaries but by operating pools that capitalized the inside information of the company and took the money from the little speculators.

In the operation of every pool a great deal of the stock is sold from one member of the pool to another member of the same pool. The object of this is to draw the attention of the public. Generally a plausible story as to the change in the value of the stock or its future possibilities is spread about at the same time by word of mouth, financial journals, or letters to "clients," and the stampede is on. The pool operators sell to each other at constantly increasing or decreasing prices, as the case may be, until they are satisfied with their profit, or until they have disposed of their stock; then the activity ceases almost as fast as it started. The public has bought "something."

Fake sales, that is sales from one person of a group to another member of the same group, which have as their object first to attract the attention of the public, and second the purpose of selling stock above or below the true market value should be heavily taxed. The difficulty is that these sales cannot always be discovered. The remedy then, it seems, would be to tax all stock market transactions heavily enough so that legitimate transactions might still be economically performed, but that fake sales would be eliminated because the cost would be such as to take the profit out of the final sale from which the only profit is derived.

The New York Stock Market has a necessary and legitimate function to perform in our financial structure but at present it also serves to promote hazardous and depressing speculation.

Judging by those glowing reports of sudden activity from busy industrial centers, when business finally did turn the corner it turned it on two wheels.

BITUMINOUS COAL STRIKE ENDED

The big bituminous coal strike in Pennsylvania is ended and 70,000 men go back to work on Monday morning. They go back to work on the old wages, pending settlement by a commission of three men which has been appointed by the President. The operators and men have agreed to abide by the decision of this group.

Its decision will take the place of the code until the code has been adopted. The country really is to be congratulated on a settlement of this character, and it is to be hoped that under all similar circumstances, a decision can be reached, which will be binding upon the parties, by a group before whom the conditions will be placed, without resorting to the strike.

The President today has made an appeal to workers everywhere to refrain from striking during this period, and they certainly ought to do so, but at the same time they should do so, for the reason that through the offices of the government, justice will be done, and they can depend upon it.

It is unfortunate indeed that it has been necessary to go through such a demonstration before this program could be put into operation. It is no time for demonstrations of warfare, and a strike is war. But we should also remember that a strike, in its essence, is withholding what a man has to sell from the market. With the laborer, it is simply the work of his hands. With the real estate man, it is his real property. With the manufacturer, it is his products. Anyone who refuses to sell at the market price or for what he can get, and withholds his property for a higher price, essentially is "striking."

Many have come to think that this is a perfectly just and right thing to do with property, but an unjust and wrong thing to do with the only product that the poor man has—his labor. To be sure, when a strike, or the withholding of labor from the market, is done, there is great suffering, not only on the part of the families of the strikers, but upon the families of any others whose business is dependent upon the mills working with regularity.

The "New Deal" would not be worthy of its name if it did not have in its program a method of accomplishing the ends of justice for the wage earner, as well as the manufacturer, to save them all from the results of such warfare.

SAN DIEGO "CONFESSION" A HORRIBLE CASE

If, as seems to be the case, the boy who confessed to the terrible San Diego crime, has been "faking," and is not guilty of this crime, he certainly does present a psychopathic case of the most extreme character.

This is one that should not be laughed off. It is not simply deceiving the officers, but it is deceiving them with a false scent, taking them off the case in the belief that the culprit has been found, at the very period of time when they might have been devoting their attention to the discovery of the guilty one.

This is a serious injury to society, as well as the practice of deceit, and the giving of false information. It is difficult to believe that people would go to such extremes to obtain publicity, and publicity of the most horrible character. People observe that almost anyone who obtains notoriety of an unusual character is offered large sums by exhibitors, who place them before the public for a price. This seems to have been on this lad's mind.

The morbid curiosity of the mob, just to get a view of a notorious, rather than a famous character, seems to have been the motive. The individual members of the crowds who are affected by this desire could gain something by reflection upon this episode.

Some method ought to be used to emphasize to this character and to others, the cheapness of such a life. Just how it could be done we do not know. But certainly the humiliation should be supreme. A public spanking at regular intervals for a considerable period of time might be quite effective in producing the desired result.

MAKING THE BROKERS CRY

A tear gas bomb suddenly halted the activities of the New York Stock Exchange yesterday, and sent the operators into the street. The alleged perpetrators have been apprehended, and probably will be punished.

There are thousands of people of this country who saved considerable money by that tear gas bomb, and do not realize it. We are making no defense for the culprits, but it is one of those cases in which there is "no great loss without some small gain."

Mixing "Bikes" and Motors

Christian Science Monitor

Few phenomena produce such trepidation in a motor-vehicle operator as does a harmless-looking bicycle rider. Pedaling his way among the passenger cars and trucks on almost any thoroughfare, he spreads an alarm altogether out of proportion to his size and speed. Motorists do not trust him. They regard him as young and irresponsible, at the mercy of numerous dangerous whims, all of which appear to them to be in marked contrast to their own mature, responsible, cautious judgment of safe procedure.

Until lately, however, the bicycle rider in the United States has represented one of traffic's minor nuisances rather than one of its major problems. But now bicycle riders are increasing. Their ranks are being swelled by recruits from both sexes and of all ages. This changes the complexion of matters quite significantly. The extent and permanence of the change depends upon whether bicycle riding is merely a passing fancy or a serious recreation with those adopting it.

Traffic authorities have not waited for time to decide whether bicycling is just a fad. Seeing two-wheeled traffic increase, they have undertaken educational campaigns directed toward both cyclists and motorists. Both groups have been apprised that the pedaler has a right on the streets and highways. With this right, it is pointed out, there goes a responsibility to exercise care and obey certain laws. One of the most interesting of these laws is a regulation, which most states have, that prohibits "trick" riding.

The sensible point of view for both groups to adopt from the very beginning of their joint tenancy of the highways would seem to be one of mutual respect for the rights of the other. On that basis, it does seem that there is room for both with reasonable safety.

Wedding Bells

Oakland Tribune

More than 20,000 weddings in California during the first half of 1933 are, according to Dr. Giles S. Porter, state director of public health, an indication that Dan Cupid feels the stimulating effect of better times.

On the other hand, Cupid's steady aim may be one of the contributing factors to the more optimistic outlook. Newlyweds usually see the world through rose-colored glasses and their happiness influences those about them. And from a more utilitarian viewpoint, marriages set up new homes, upon which the flow of business depends, for the belief that two can live cheaper than one was long ago proved to be a romantic myth.

Marriage licenses show the same tendency as bank deposits and other statistical items. Wedding bells rang out eighty-two more times in the first six months of this year than in the same period in 1932. In Southern California, Dr. Porter notes, all counties except Santa Barbara and Imperial, showed a slight falling off, but a glance at air passenger traffic to Reno might offset the marriage license bureau statistics.

The picture is complete with the revelation that June remains the prime month for brides, for of the 20,851 marriages performed in the last six months in California, nearly one-fourth, or 5,113, occurred in June.

BEYOND HELP

I'd like to get so deep in debt
That all the men I owed
Would rally 'round the way they found
To help me bear my load.
"Keep up your nerve," they'd all observe,
"Face trouble like a sport.
For if you fail you'll go to jail,
Or, anyway, to court.
But if you start afresh, you see,
You'll have a chance—and so will we."

But, though I'm flat upon the mat,
Not one red cent I owe.
To find a sou to help me through
I know not where to go.
There's none to shout, "We'll pull you out,"
Because nobody cares
To help me ride the troubled tide—
That won't help them get theirs.
I search the town from end to end
And cannot find a moneyed friend.

But if I could, perchance, make good
And meet my loans in time,
No one would say to me, "Nay, nay!
You can't have one more dime!"
They all would flash the ready cash,
Invite me out to eat,
And say, "Forget that little debt
Until you're on your feet!"
And though dead broke, with dauntless heart
Forthwith I'd make another start.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

A NEW DECADELOGUE OF BUSINESS

Today I present the third part of a new decadelogue of business which Alexander Ruthven, president of the University of Michigan, has formulated as summarizing the educational obligations of business as it enters a new phase of its development.

(8) In every business the field of instruction should be as broad as all the normal activities of man, in the sense that everything that is done is to contribute to the development of the individual. It should include not only the work, which presumably is the chief goal, but also study and recreation.

(a) There should be provision for a broad educational program consisting of a large number of small-unit courses in the larger fields of human endeavor, as, for example, history and other social studies, science, mathematics, language, literature, music, arts and crafts. In a very practical sense there should be a special curriculum for every man. It should begin at his level, both as to ability and quality of workmanship, and move upward from that plane.

(b) The curriculum should make generous provision for a great variety of recreational activities which have carry-over possibilities in later life. It should be recognized that a sensible recreational program in which the men participate is quite as important for adults as for younger men.

(c) The curriculum should be administered so as to encourage the organization of informal activities that develop from the interests of the men. Such activities should be promoted not only to give practice in certain desirable skills, useful in community life, but to achieve two immediate goals: opportunities for self-expression of the individual, and the stabilization of emotions. The following types of activities illustrate the principle: discussion groups, community singing, instrumental music, arts and crafts, dramatics, and clubs concerned with politics, religion and citizenship.

(d) The ideal program presupposes a reduced work week in order that time may be available for participation in the educational and recreational activities provided.

(9) In every business, men with adequate training in the scientific techniques used in the study of human material—the psychologist, the educator and the psychoanalyst—should be brought in from time to time to study the individual man, to analyze the forces that are acting, and to measure and interpret the results.

(10) In every business, every effort should be directed to protect the self-respect of the individual man. Doles under the guise of employment are as objectionable as doles under any other guise.

A HEALTHY CHILD

Just how healthy is a healthy child? When can we feel sure that a child is all right? My sign is the light in his eyes, the lift in his voice, the spring in his step that tell me this is a happy child. A happy child must be healthy. Illness brings discomfort and an uncomfortable child must be unhappy. Happiness is a fine test of health.

When a child's eyes are dull, his step slow and heavy, his face shadowed, his interest hard to catch, he is sick. Don't drive him to behave as though he were well. Let him rest. Rest is the first step in any cure. Then study his condition to see what is wrong. If it is not plain to you call in the family physician.

It is easier to keep a child healthy than to restore him after illness has laid him low. That means that we establish a routine of diet, sleep, play, work, leisure, health habits, and hold fast to it through thick and thin. Routine is dreary. It is wearying to the flesh, this day by day performance of ordinary imperatives. It does get to be very trying to watch a child's toilet ceremonies after the thousandth time. But that routine performance of everyday duties is what establishes and maintains health.

Health is largely a matter of habit. Eating is a habit. So is bathing, sleeping, playing, working. If those habits are set early, kept in working order for the first difficult years, followed up through the teens and into adolescence health is set. Twenty-one years or so of unflinching attention. A great price to pay unless you remember the reward and take pleasure in the service as you go along. It is a pleasure to see the color in a healthy child's skin, to see his body grow and take on power and beauty. There is reward enough in that for any druggery it entails.

Routine can be varied without being broken. Breakfast need not always be the same. Prunes are not the only fruit nor is salvation to be found in one sort of bread only. Play time comes at the same hour every day but the game can be different and the partners can be changed. Put variety into the routine and you will maintain the child's interest and save yourself from exhaustion.

There is one point that must be stressed if you would have a healthy child. Guard his mind against illness. Mental hygiene is as important as physical hygiene. There are rules to be obeyed, dangers to be avoided, positive aid to be rendered in rearing the mind of a child.

Fears must be excluded. The child must feel sure of the people about him. All his questions must be answered sincerely. His hidden doubts and anxieties are caused by a lack of faith in those about him and until that faith can be established the child's mind will not know the vigor of health. Feed the mind of a child with the diet it needs. Give him food for his imagination, ideas for stimulation, work for growth, rest for recreation. Until the mind of the child is at ease and in good health there can be no real health of body.

And the best culture for mind and body is love. Love a child wisely and he cannot escape health.

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.) (Copyright, 1933, The Bell Syn., Inc.)

CURBING STOCK MARKET GAMBLING

Effective yesterday the New York Stock exchange adopted a new set of rules that are calculated to restrict the small stock market operator, or shall we say gambler.

The new rules require a minimum margin of 50 per cent for small operators, while the operator who has more than five thousand dollars invested in the market is permitted to operate on a margin of thirty per cent. The small fry cannot borrow more than fifty per cent of the value of their stock while the larger speculator will be permitted to borrow a total of seventy per cent.

The rule heretofore has been that the brokerage firm was its own judge as to what was adequate security. Ever since the bank holidays, clerks, stenographers and the former rich have been taking their small savings and putting it in the stock market in the hope that by a successful gamble they might win a fortune. The result was that stock certificates increased in value faster than the actual business conditions would warrant and when the collapse in stock market values occurred last month the decline in stock market values was greater in proportion than it had been in 1929. Once again the lambs had gone to market and had been shorn of their fleece.

While this change in the rules of the New York Stock market operation is in the right direction, the real "cure" of the market is that it permits the operation of "pools." A legitimate pool has as its object the raising or lowering of the market value of a stock in keeping with the true value of the stock; but the average "pool" is organized to fleece the "sucker." Occasionally it happens that the small "operator" outguesses the pool operators; in fact a few of them have become so successful that they become disciples of the doctrine that the only stock to buy is that in which there is a lot of activity. And the stock in which there is a lot of activity invariably is one in which a pool is very active. The proud boast of one of our big industrialists is that he made millions of five hundred associates. This was not done by paying big salaries but by operating pools that capitalized the inside information of the company and took the money from the little speculators.

In the operation of every pool a great deal of the stock is sold from one member of the pool to another member of the same pool. The object of this is to draw the attention of the public. Generally a plausible story as to the change in the value of the stock or its future possibilities is spread about at the same time by word of mouth, financial journals, or letters to "clients," and the stampede is on. The pool operators sell to each other at constantly increasing or decreasing prices, as the case may be, until they are satisfied with their profit, or until they have disposed of their stock; then the activity ceases almost as fast as it started. The public has bought "something."

Fake sales, that is sales from one person of a group to another member of the same group, which have as their object first to attract the attention of the public, and second the purpose of selling stock above or below the true market value should be heavily taxed. The difficulty is that these sales cannot always be discovered. The remedy then, it seems, would be to tax all stock market transactions heavily enough so that legitimate transactions might still be economically performed, but that fake sales would be eliminated because the cost would be such as to take the profit out of the final sale from which the only profit is derived.

The New York Stock Market has a necessary and legitimate function to perform in our financial structure but at present it also serves to promote hazardous and depressing speculation.

Judging by those glowing reports of sudden activity from busy industrial centers, when business finally did turn the corner it turned it on two wheels.

BITUMINOUS COAL STRIKE ENDED

The big bituminous coal strike in Pennsylvania is ended and 70,000 men go back to work on Monday morning. They go back to work on the old wages, pending settlement by a commission of three men which has been appointed by the President. The operators and men have agreed to abide by the decision of this group.

Its decision will take the place of the code until the code has been adopted. The country really is to be congratulated on a settlement of this character, and it is to be hoped that under all similar circumstances, a decision can be reached, which will be binding upon the parties, by a group before whom the conditions will be placed, without resorting to the strike.

The President today has made an appeal to workers everywhere to refrain from striking during this period, and they certainly ought to do so, but at the same time they should do so, for the reason that through the offices of the government, justice will be done, and they can depend upon it.

It is unfortunate indeed that it has been necessary to go through such a demonstration before this program could be put into operation. It is no time for demonstrations of warfare, and a strike is war. But we should also remember that a strike, in its essence, is withholding what a man has to sell from the market. With the laborer, it is simply the work of his hands. With the real estate man, it is his real property. With the manufacturer, it is his products. Anyone who refuses to sell at the market price or for what he can get, and withholds his property for a higher price, essentially is "striking."

Many have come to think that this is a perfectly just and right thing to do with property, but an unjust and wrong thing to do with the only product that the poor man has—his labor. To be sure, when a strike, or the withholding of labor from the market, is done, there is great suffering, not only on the part of the families of the strikers, but upon the families of any others whose business is dependent upon the mills working with regularity.

The "New Deal" would not be worthy of its name if it did not have in its program a method of accomplishing the ends of justice for the wage earner, as well as the manufacturer, to save them all from the results of such warfare.

SAN DIEGO "CONFESSION" A HORRIBLE CASE

If, as seems to be the case, the boy who confessed to the terrible San Diego crime, has been "faking," and is not guilty of this crime, he certainly does present a psychopathic case of the most extreme character.

This is one that should not be laughed off. It is not simply deceiving the officers, but it is deceiving them with a false scent, taking them off the case in the belief that the culprit has been found, at the very period of time when they might have been devoting their attention to the discovery of the guilty one.

This is a serious injury to society, as well as the practice of deceit, and the giving of false information. It is difficult to believe that people would go to such extremes to obtain publicity, and publicity of the most horrible character. People observe that almost anyone who obtains notoriety of an unusual character is offered large sums by exhibitors, who place them before the public for a price. This seems to have been on this lad's mind.

The morbid curiosity of the mob, just to get a view of a notorious, rather than a famous character, seems to have been the motive. The individual members of the crowds who are affected by this desire could gain something by reflection upon this episode.

Some method ought to be used to emphasize to this character and to others, the cheapness of such a life. Just how it could be done we do not know. But certainly the humiliation should be supreme. A public spanking at regular intervals for a considerable period of time might be quite effective in producing the desired result.

MAKING THE BROKERS CRY

A tear gas bomb suddenly halted the activities of the New York Stock Exchange yesterday, and sent the operators into the street. The alleged perpetrators have been apprehended, and probably will be punished.

There are thousands of people of this country who saved considerable money by that tear gas bomb, and do not realize it. We are making no defense for the culprits, but it is one of those cases in which there is "no great loss without some small gain."

Mixing "Bikes" and Motors

Few phenomena produce such trepidation in a motor-vehicle operator as does a harmless-looking bicycle rider. Pedaling his way among the passenger cars and trucks on almost any thoroughfare, he spreads an alarm altogether out of proportion to his size and speed. Motorists do not trust him. They regard him as young and irresponsible, at the mercy of numerous dangerous whims, all of which appear to them to be in marked contrast to their own mature, responsible, cautious judgment of safe procedure.

Until lately, however, the bicycle rider in the United States has represented one of traffic's minor nuisances rather than one of its major problems. But now bicycle riders are increasing. Their ranks are being swelled by recruits from both sexes and of all ages. This changes the complexion of matters quite significantly. The extent and permanence of the change depends upon whether bicycle riding is merely a passing fancy or a serious recreation with those adopting it.

Seeing two-wheeled traffic increasing, they have undertaken educational campaigns directed toward both cyclists and motorists.
